THE First Edition of this book was issued in the year 1890 with the object of assisting Registration Officers and the Public searching the Indexes of Births, Deaths, and Marriages by collating the varieties in the form and spelling of names usually met with, and also those names differing altogether in form, which had been ascertained to be used interchangeably.

A careful note has been made during the decade of cases where additional varieties or peculiarities in Surnames and Christian names have come under notice in this Office, or have been reported by local Officers.

In view of the revision of the Work, I addressed a special circular to the Superintendent Registrars and Registrars asking for information as to the nomenclature in their respective Districts, and I now beg to thank those Officers who have so kindly responded to my request, and in many cases furnished additional information of interest and value.

In the preparation of this Edition I have been cordially assisted by Mr. William A. Squires, Superintendent of Records, to whom my best thanks are due.

and a change of methods will not be made. On the contrary, it is proposed to allow parallel trials, so that each group will have the opportunity to experience both kinds of treatment.

It is also proposed that the two kinds of treatment should be available to all patients who are willing to undergo the procedure, provided they can tolerate

it. However, it will always be insisted, to avoid any harm, that only those patients who are physically fit and able to withstand the operation and post-operative care will be admitted. It has been found that younger men are more likely to undergo the operation successfully than older men, and it is therefore proposed that the age limit should be set at 60 years. A middle-aged man below this age limit would probably be considered to be physically fit, and above this age he would be considered to be physically unfit.

It is proposed that the operation should be performed by a surgeon who has had special training in the technique of the operation, and who has had experience in performing it.

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

THE subject of names presents an attractive field for investigation, but some of its most interesting aspects are beyond the scope of the present treatise, which is necessarily confined to those variations and peculiarities affecting our national records of Births, Deaths, and Marriages.

In January, 1894, I prepared for the late Registrar-General a Special Report on Surnames in Ireland, with notes as to numerical strength, derivation, ethnology, and distribution, based on information extracted from the Births Indexes of the General Register Office for the year 1890. This treatise was published as an Appendix to the Twenty-ninth Annual Report of the Registrar-General, and presented to Parliament.

There is, unfortunately, no complete record of the surnames in this country. An attempt was made by the Census Commissioners of 1851 to compile such a work, but when only partially done it was given up.

Our national Indexes of Births, Deaths, and Marriages for the last thirty-six years probably contain almost all the surnames in use in this country, but the information is necessarily scattered over many volumes, and the task of presenting in a complete and readable form the surnames of the population yet remains to be accomplished.

Apart from the official purpose for which they have been prepared, the Indexes form a most interesting study. Like the figures in the kaleidoscope, names are continually changing, old names dropping out and new ones appearing.

In addition to our Celtic, Anglo-Saxon and Norman surnames, we find Highland Gaelic names, represented by "MacDougal," "MacGregor," "MacIntosh." Welsh names are found, such as "Morgan," "Richards," "Apjohn." Danish names appear as "Dowdall," "Dromgoole," "Gould," "Coppinger." There are many Huguenot names, as "La Touche," "Du Bedat," "Lefroy," "Dubourdieu," "Le Fanu," "Drelincourt," "Dombrain," "Crommelin," "Boileau," "De Blacquiere." Italian names are represented, as "Bassi," "Ceppi," "Casciani." We have various German Palatinate names, as "Bovenizor," "Delmege," "Switzer," "Douce," "Teskey," "Shire," and "Moddler." Jewish names are found, such as "Cohen," "Levi," "Aaron," and the Indexes are now showing the result of the recent migration to this country of Jews from Russia in such names as "Rabinovitch," "Weiner," "Matufsky," "Hesselberg," "Stuppel," "Rossin," "Winstock," "Greenberg," "Maisell," "Statzumsky," "Coplau," "Wachman," "Wedeclefsky," and "Fridberg."

None but those actually engaged in registration work can have any idea of the practical difficulties which are encountered by persons searching the Indexes, owing to the great variations in names in Ireland.

These variations are not only in spelling and form, but entirely different names are used synonymously by the same person or by members of the same family.

Many of these cases are direct translations of Irish names into English, or vice versa, while in others they are equivalents, modifications, or corruptions of them.

In a country where two different languages are spoken, it might be expected some such cases would occur, but in Ireland the practice is much more widespread than is commonly supposed.

In addition to the changes attributable to the difference of language, time has a powerful effect in altering names, which have also a tendency to assume various forms in different districts.

Illiteracy also operates in corrupting names, while they are also frequently varied in spelling and form at pleasure.

It is proposed in this treatise first to analyse the orthographical changes usually met with, and then to consider the use of different surnames interchangeably.

As some peculiarities have been met with in Christian names which affect the Indexes, it has been deemed advisable to insert a notice of them.

To the alphabetical list of surnames, with their varieties and synonyms, is prefixed a short explanation of the principles on which it has been prepared. The list is followed by an Index, enabling the reader to trace without difficulty each variety to the principal name or names with which it has been found to be used interchangeably.

CHAPTER II.

ORTHOGRAPHICAL CHANGES IN SURNAMES.

IT would be impossible to codify all the varieties in the spelling of surnames, but the following will illustrate the character of those changes most frequently met with, and indicate the direction in which the variety may be looked for.

Prefixes.

The most common prefixes in Ireland are the Celtic prefixes O and Mac.

I have received the following reports as to the resumption of the prefix O by Celtic families :—

Armagh District—“A very large number have added ‘O’ as a prefix. Those who were formerly known as Neill are now O’Neill; Reilly, now O'Reilly; Hagan, now O'Hagan, &c. Indeed I think every one in my district who by any possibility could prefix the O has done so, and this was only commenced a few years ago. I have known earlier births registered without the O, but later ones of same family must have the O prefixed.”

Mountshannon District—“It is becoming customary with the people of this district to add an O to such names as Callaghan, Kelly, Flanagan, Grady, Farrell, and call themselves O'Callaghan, O'Kelly, O'Flanagan, &c.” On the other hand, the Registrar of Broughshane District, Ballymena Union, reports—“Some families have dropped the O, as O'Hamill, Hamill; O'Kane, Kane; O'Mellan, Mellan; O'Donnell, Donnell; O'Dornan, Dornan.”

Prefixes may affect the Index in several ways. The name may be given without the prefix, or the prefix may be added to the name so as to form one word, or it may be incorporated in a modified form, producing a fresh variety of the name.

The following are instances :—

Prefix Fitz.	Name	Harris.
	With Prefix	FitzHarris.
	Prefix incorporated	Feeharry.
Prefix Mc or Mac.	Name	Guinness.
	With Prefix	M'Guinness.
	Prefix incorporated	Maginnis.
Prefix O.	Name	Reilly.
	With Prefix	O'Reilly.
Prefix D', De and DeLa.	Name	Courcy.
	With Prefix	D'Courcy, De Courcy.
	Name	Hunt.
	With Prefix	De La Hunt.
	Prefix incorporated	Delahunt.
Prefix Le.	Name	Fevre.
	With Prefix	Le Fevre.
	Prefix incorporated	Lefevre.

The prefix Mac with surnames beginning with “ Il ” is sometimes incorporated as “ Mackle,” thus :—“ MacIlhatton”—“ Macklehattan ”; “ MacIlmoyle ”—“ Macklemoyle.”

In some instances the name with the prefix has become obsolete. Thus for example the Registrar of Keady District (Armagh Union) reports:—

"I may mention that my own family name Dorman has been abbreviated from De Dormans."

Other prefixes have been reported from various districts.

The prefix "St." (abbreviation of Saint), is found incorporated in several names in a modified form, thus:—"St. Clair"—"Sinclair"; "St. John"—"Singen" or "Cingen"; "St. Leger"—"Sellinger."

The Registrar of Moira District has supplied an interesting note regarding various prefixes to the name Lavery. He states:—"Of Laverys there are several races in this vicinity, all having prefixes, and all rigidly denying relationship or common descent. They are Baun-Lavery (Bawn—White); Roe-Lavery (Rue—Red); Trin-Lavery, and Hard-Lavery. Of these Baun is the most usually or persistently adhered to, so much so that several people about here are known only by their prefix, as Charley, Ned, or Dan Baun. Many people would not know where any of these people lived were you to call them by the name Lavery without the prefix; indeed the last-named man in the above samples denies the Lavery altogether.

"Of Roe-Laverys, none now use the prefix that I am aware of. One man (who died recently at a very advanced age), used to be called Hugh Roe simply. . . . His sons are simple Laverys, and never have I heard them referred to as Roes.

"The Trin-Laverys call themselves Armstrong. I can't see the connection, but it is worth noting.* I am not aware of any Trin-Laverys in this immediate neighbourhood, but there are a good many Armstrongs about four or five miles off, who I suspect are Trin-Laverys.

"Hard-Laverys are few. I only know one race. They have been occasionally called Hardy, but this name attends only two branches, and is not likely to be entered as a surname, having lapsed into a mere colloquial distinction."

It may be mentioned that the use of a prefix in connection with the name Lavery, has been reported to exist in other districts. Thus in Crumlin District (Antrim Union), the name appears as "Trim-Lavery," in Aghalee District (Lurgan Union), as "Tryn-Lavery," while in Glenavy District (Lisburn Union), the prefix is incorporated with the name forming "Trin-lavery."

The Registrar of Aghalee District also reports that the prefix Baun is used in his district with the name Lavery, and that Trin-lavery and Armstrong are used interchangeably.

* The prefix "Trin" or "Tryn" is probably the anglicised form of the Irish tréan—"strong," and the synonymous use of the name "Trin-Lavery" with "Armstrong" may, perhaps, be explained by the fact that "Strong-handed" is in Irish "tréanlámhach" [treanlamhach], from tréan, strong, and láimh (lamh) a hand.

The tendency of a prefix to take the place of the entire name has been observed in several names such as "Mack" for Mackaleary, M<sup>c</sup>Dermott, M<sup>c</sup>Donald, M<sup>c</sup>Evo<sup>y</sup>, M<sup>c</sup>Inerney, M<sup>c</sup>Namara, and M<sup>c</sup>Namee, &c., and "Fitz" for "Fitzgerald," "Fitzsimons," "Fitzpatrick," &c. With regard to this last name a Registrar reports with respect to a Birth Entry where this peculiarity was observed,—“The name originally appears to have been ‘Fitzpatrick,’ but the name ‘Fitz’ has been used by this family for a generation, and it was the name which they have entered in the local Church Marriage Register.”

The Assistant Registrar of Garvagh District (Coleraine Union) reports that “Fitz” is a familiar contraction almost everywhere of all names so beginning, just as “Mac” is similarly used for all names beginning with it.

Affixes.

Affixes are found either separately or in combination with the surname.

The following instances of affixes commonly in use may be given :—

Haugh . . . .	Fetherston. Fetherston Haugh. Fetherston H. Fetherstonhaugh.
Roe . . . .	M <sup>c</sup> Dermott. M <sup>c</sup> Dermott Roe. M <sup>c</sup> Dermott-roe. Morris. Morrisroe.

Sometimes names are altered both by prefixes and affixes. The name Johnston, Johnson or Jonson, affords a good illustration of this. “Johnson,” i.e., the son of John, is in use interchangeably with “McShane,” i.e., the son of Shane or Shawn (Irish for John), and with “Mac-eown,” the son of Eoin, another Irish form of John. “McHugh,” i.e., the son of Hugh, is synonymous with “Hewson.” “McAimon,” i.e., the son of Aimon (an Irish form of Edmond), is found to be interchangeably used with “Edmundson.”

In some districts, where there are many families of the same name, additional names are given for purposes of distinction, and these names frequently appear in the Index—thus :—

Ryan . . . .	Ryan (Slater).
Sullivan . . . .	Sullivan (Magrath).

The Registrar of Murroe District (Limerick Union) reports—“There are dozens of distinctions for ‘Ryan’ in this district, all well known locally.”

The Registrar of Murragh District (Bandon Union) gives the following affixes as in use in his district:—To the name Leary—Bue, Reagh, Dreedar, Rue; to the name McCarthy—Cahereen, More, and Reagh, and to the name Sullivan—Beara and Bogue.

Frequently the affix is the father's or mother's Christian name, the mother's maiden surname, or the grandfather's Christian name. A Registrar of Marriages reports:—"I know a 'Quinlan' whose father was 'Cleary,' a 'Ryan English' whose father was 'Ryan.'"

The entry of the birth of a "John John Murphy" was met with in Millstreet District. On inquiry the Registrar stated:—"It is the habit in this part of the country to take the father's name to distinguish them from others of same name; for example, 'John Daniel Murphy,' 'John Jeremiah Murphy,' and as in this case, 'John John Murphy,' there being so many families of the same surname."

The Registrar of Castlebar No. 1 District reports:—"Joyce, a very common name, is distinguished by affixing father's name, e.g., Tom Joyce (Tom), Tom Joyce (Martin), and in many cases further distinguished by any peculiarity of complexion, colour of hair, or special dress, or if exceptionally tall, and those are transmitted in the Irish language."

The Registrar of Tuosist District (Kenmare Union) furnishes the following note:—"The name Sullivan being exceedingly common, it is often omitted, and the Christian name of father (or mother) substituted, e.g., 'Johnny O'John,' 'John Williams,' or name of farm, as 'Dan Rusheen,' &c."

Occasionally the complexion of the members gives a surname to the family, e.g., Mike Bawn, or a distinction is made as "Shawn Og"—"Young John."

The Registrar of Kilkeel No. 2 District, remarks:—"Often the grandfather's Christian name is used as an affix, as "Charles Cunningham Dick."

The Registrar of Sneem District, in Kenmare Union, reports—"‘Dorohy’ is applied to Sullivan, such as Sullivan Dorohy, also ‘Mountain,’ as Sullivan Mountain, and the other Sullivans are called after the locality they live in, &c., as ‘Sullivan Glanac,’ ‘Sullivan Brachae,’ ‘Sullivan Dillough,’ ‘Sullivan Budoch.’"

The Registrar of Rathmullan District (Milford Union), states that—"The trade or occupation is often added in Irish after a surname, such as 'Mulrine (saorcloch');—saorcloch, saopcloic, signifies a Mason.

Sometimes the affix entirely displaces the surname. A certificate of a marriage came under examination in the General Register Office, in which the bridegroom's name was given as "Patrick Sullivan," and his father's name as "Patrick Cooper." On inquiry it was ascertained that the father's real name was Patrick Sullivan (Cooper).

Initial Letters following Prefixes.

Initial letters following prefixes are sometimes dropped thus:—

One initial letter is substituted for another, as—

------------------------	---	-------------------------

Or the letters following the prefix transposed,

-----------------------	---	-----------------------

The letter "C" is sometimes repeated after "M<sup>c</sup>," as—

Initial Letters.

Cases of substitution of one letter for another are very common, thus:—

A and E	.	Allison	.	Ellison.
C and G	.	Cannon	.	Gannon.
C and K	.	Carr	.	Kerr.
C and Q	.	Cuddihy	.	Quiddihy.
F and Ph	.	Fair	.	Phair.
F and V	.	Farrelly	.	Varrelly.
G and J	.	Gervis	.	Jervis.
G and K	.	Gilfoyle	.	Kilfoyle.
P and W	.	Phelan	.	Whelan.
Q and T	.	Quigg	.	Twigg.
Q and W	.	Quinton	.	Winton.

Initial consonants are sometimes doubled, as—

French	.	Ffrench.
Folliott	.	Ffolliott.

Initial letters are sometimes dropped or added, as—

Ahearn	.	Hearn.
Hammond	.	Whhammad.

Second Letters.

The following are some of the changes in second letters most commonly met with:—

Changes from one vowel to another—

a changed into e as Bagley	.	Begley.
a	„	o „ Laughlin	.	Loughlin.
e	„	i „ Nesbitt	.	Nisbett.
e	„	o „ Delahunty	.	Dolohunty.
o	„	u „ Molloy	.	Mulloy.
u	„	i „ Mulligan	.	Milligan.

Second letter, where a vowel, is dropped, as—

a	.	.	Eagan	.	.	Egan.
i	.	.	Aiken	.	.	Aken.

Second and Third Letters.

The following changes in these letters may be noted :—

Change of vowels—

a	changed into	ea	as	Daly	.	.	Dealy.
ai	"	ea	"	Kain	.	.	Kean.
au	"	a	"	Maunsell	.	.	Mansell
ei	"	ea	"	Reid	.	.	Read.
eo	"	ou	"	Keogh	.	.	Kough.
i	"	ui	"	Gilmartin	.	.	Guilmartin
o	"	oo	"	Gogarty	.	.	Googarty.
o	"	ou	"	Rorke	.	.	Rourke.
u	"	ou	"	Burke	.	.	Bourke.

Transposition of vowels—

e and i	.	.	as	Reilly,	.	.	Rielly.
"	.	.	"	Neill,	.	.	Niell.

Intermediate Letters.

There are many changes observable in intermediate letters.
The following may be mentioned :—

Consonants dropped—

c before k	as	Shackleton	.	.	Shakleton.
p after m	as	Thompson	.	.	Thomson.

Consonants repeated—

Mathews	.	.	Matthews.
---------	---	---	-----------

Consonants interchangeable—

ff and v	.	as Rafferty	.	.	Raverty.
s and z	.	as Fraser	.	.	Frazer.

Syllables interchangeable—

oh , ogh , and ough , as Doherty	.	Dougherty.
Dogheny	.	Dougheny.

Syllables omitted or contracted—

Omitted, as Donnellan	.	.	Donlan.
Farrelly	.	.	Farley.

Contracted, as Corcoran	.	.	Cochrane.
Fennelly	.	.	Finlay.

Terminals.

The alterations in Terminals are numerous, both as regards single letters and syllables. The following examples may be given :—

Terminations interchangeable—

ie for y	.	.	as Beattie	.	Beatty.
ies for is	.	.	as Davies	.	Davis.
ce for se	.	.	as Boyce	.	Boyse.
x for cks	.	.	as Rennix	.	Rennicks.
y for ey	.	.	as Mahony	.	Mahoney.

Dropping Consonants, Vowels.

Consonants— d	.	.	as Boland	.	Bolan.
	s (where double),	as Burgess	.	.	Burges.
	t	as Lamont	.	.	Lamon.
	gh (where silent),	as M'Whaugh	.	.	M'Wha.

Vowels— e	.	.	as Sloane	.	Sloan.
------------------	---	---	-----------	---	--------

Adding final s

as	.	Askin	.	Askins.
		Connor	.	Connors.

Contraction or Abbreviation of Names.

There are many cases where a Contraction is substituted for the full name. The following will serve as examples :—

- Free for Freeman.
- Neazor for Bovenizor.
- Pender for Prendergast.
- Pendy for Prendeville.
- Roy for M'Elroy and Royston.
- Turk for Turkington.

Spelling according to usual Pronunciation.

All names are more or less liable to be spelled according to their pronunciation, but there are several instances where the name is pronounced quite differently from the spelling, and in these names almost invariably the spelling according to pronunciation is also found.

Thus—	Chism	for	Chisholm.
	Chumley	,	Cholmondeley.
	Coburn	,	Cockburne.
	Cohoun	,	Colquhouñ.
	Coakley	,	Colclough.
	Beecham	,	Beauchamp.
	Lester	,	Leicester.

Older Forms of Names.

In many cases the original form of a name has become lost or obsolete. In some instances, however, the alphabetical list still shows the original form of the name and the one now more commonly used, with indications of the various stages through which, in course of time, the name has passed into its present more usual form.

The name "Whittaker" appears to have come from White-acre, with which form it has been found to be used interchangeably. Thus—

Whiteacre.
Whiteaker
Whitegar.
Whittegar.
Whittacre.
Whitaker.
Whittaker.

Again, "Lammy" is traceable to the French "L'Ami," both forms being still in use. Thus—

L'Ami.
Lamie.
Lammie.
Lammy.

Another instance is the name Loughran, from the Irish O'Luchairen—

O'Luchairen.
Lucairen.
O'Loughraine.
Lochrane.
Loughren.
Loughran.

The Registrar of Cappoquin District (Lismore Union) reports:—"De Laundres or De Londres, an old Norman name, is found in this district in the forms of 'Landers' and 'Glanders'".

The French Huguenot name "Blanc," and its modern form "Blong," both appear in the Register Books of Cloneygowan District (Mountmellick Union). These names also occur in Rathangan District (Edenderry Union), the Registrar of which remarks—"The French spelling, 'Blanc,' is disliked owing to the literal pronunciation 'blank.'"

The name "Nestor" has been observed in the Records almost exclusively in the counties of Galway, Limerick, and Clare. In reply to a query regarding the origin or transformation of this name the Superintendent Registrar of Rathkeale Union states:—

"A.D. 1396. Iriel O'Loughlen was killed by Mac Gírr-an-Adhastair (now Nestor), one of his own tribe.—(See History of Co. Clare, by James Frost). Adhastair (αδάρται) signifies a halter. There are two families named 'Nestor' living in the Rathkeale Dispensary District, Townland of Kilquain, and other families of that name reside in the Manor."

It may be added that this name has also been found in the Indexes in the form "Nester."

Local Variations in Spelling and Form.

The fact that names have a tendency to assume different forms in different localities is well known. The following may be cited as examples:—

The name MacAlshinder [synonyme for Alexander], which is the form used in Larne District, is found in the following forms in other districts:—

Elchinder,	in	Ballymoney District.
Elshander,	"	Ballylesson      "
Elshinder,	"	[Lisburn Union].
Kalshander,	"	Lisburn Union.
M'Calshender,	"	Dromore District [Banbridge Union].
M'Calshender,	"	Ballymena Union.
M'Elshender,	"	Banbridge      "
M'Elshender,	"	Doagh [Antrim Union].
M'Elshunder,	"	Ballymoney Union.
M'Kelshenter,	"	Tanderagee District [Banbridge Union].

The names Archibald (or Archbold) and Aspel are found to be used synonymously in Rathcoole District (Celbridge Union). The following varieties have also been met with:—

Aspill,	in	Balrothery Union.
Esbal,	"	Portrush District.
Esbald,	"	Eglinton      "
Esbald,	"	[Londonderry Union].
Esbel,	"	Limavady      "
Esbil,	"	Coleraine      "
Esble,	"	Ballymoney      "

Again, the name "Ferguson," in addition to several variations in spelling, is found under the following forms:—

Faraday,	in	Lusk District.
Fargy,	"	do.      do.
Fergie,	{	Greyabbey District [N.T. Ards Union].
Forgie,	"
Forgay,	"	Ballymoney Union.
Forgey,	"	Portrush and Warrenpoint Districts.
Hergusson,	"	Lusk District.
Vargin,	"	Bannow District [Wexford Union].
Vargus,	"	Broadway      "

The name "Quigley" in Ferns District (Enniscorthy Union) and in Fethard No. 2 District (New Ross Union) has become "Cogley." In Monaghan Union it has assumed the form "Kegley," and in Belfast No. 6 District it has been found as "Twigley." It is worthy of note in connection with the last variety that "Quigg" and "Twigg" are reported by the Registrar of Belfast No. 7 District to be different forms of the same name.

Local pronunciation often affects the spelling of names. The Registrar of Clonavaddy District (Dungannon Union) has drawn attention to the fact that a number of people in his District spell their name "Hoins," and not "Hynes," the more usual form.

Variations in Spelling at Pleasure.

The following cases will illustrate the variation in spelling of names at pleasure :—

Some years ago the marriages of a brother and of a sister in the same family were solemnized in a Registrar's office. The son gave his surname as "Faulkner," and his father's surname as "Faulkner." The daughter gave her surname as "Falconer," and her father's surname as "Falconer." Both marriages were subsequently re-solemniszed in a place of worship, and the same orthographical differences were found to exist in the records kept by the officiating minister.

A young man called at the General Register Office to obtain a certificate of his sister's birth, giving his surname and hers as "Milligan." When search for the entry proved unsuccessful, he suggested a search under the name "Mulligan," when the required entry was found. The entry was signed by the father, who, as occupier of a public institution, had signed a large number of entries, from which it appeared without doubt that the proper name was "Mulligan."

A record came under examination in which the informant, when registering the death of his brother, gave the name of deceased as "Fawcett," and signed his own name as "Fossitt." On inquiry into the case it was ascertained that the parties were in the habit of writing their names respectively as given in the entry.

A birth entry was found in Mountmellick District, where the informant signed his surname as "Headen." In a previous entry he had signed his name as "Hayden." In explanation the Registrar reported that the man wrote his name in both ways.

In another case the same informant wrote her name in different entries as "Kinnealy," "Kinneally," "Kenneally," and "Kenelly."

The Registrar of Drimoleague District, in Skibbereen Union, observes with reference to two death entries :—"In the same family, the father was known as 'Cue,' the son signs himself 'Hue,' and the two deceased children used to sign themselves 'MacCue.'"

The Registrar of Street District (Granard Union) reports :—"There is one family in this district, one member of which uses the name 'Murphy,' whilst another employs the designation 'Molphy' they being brother and sister."

Changes owing to Illiteracy and other Causes.

The differences caused by illiteracy are too numerous and well known to require much comment. To such a cause may be referred "Lannan" and "Linnen" for "Lennon," "Nail" for "Neill." "Dulinty" and "Dulantly" have been found written by uneducated persons for "Delahunty."

Religious and social differences sometimes cause varieties in surnames.

Two local officers have reported that, in the case of the name Wallace or Wallis, it is spelled "Wallis" by the members of one religious communion, and "Wallace" by those of another.

Similar reports have been received regarding the use of the names "Neill" and "O'Neill," "Coole" and "Coyle," and of the names "M'Cusker" and its equivalent "Cosgrove."

In one district the name "Connellan" is said to be so spelled by persons of good social position, while the peasantry use the form "Conlan."

Another Registrar, in County Kildare says:—"A man who would get a little money would change from 'Doolin' to 'Dowling.'"

Variations are also produced by other causes, such as the tendency to assimilate names to those of distinguished persons. One Registrar reports "Nielson" has become "Nelson," while another states "Parlon" has become "Parnell," so that all the families in his district of the former name now use the latter.

CHAPTER III.

USE OF DIFFERENT SURNAMES INTERCHANGEABLY.

THE use of entirely different names interchangeably by the same person prevails in Ireland to a much greater extent than is commonly supposed. This is principally owing to the differences in language—many of these being cases of translation of Irish names into English, or vice versa, or equivalents, modifications, or corruptions of them. There are, however, other cases which cannot apparently be accounted for in this way.

Registration officers are sometimes placed in considerable doubt which name to record. A Registrar recently reported that some families are invariably called by other than their real names, and that it is often a matter of some difficulty to ascertain the correct name.

A Superintendent Registrar writes:—"If any local person called at the office to know if Christopher Sherwin had registered the death of a friend, he would ask, was the information given by 'Kitty Sharvin.' A man living within a hundred yards of James Fitzpatrick or Christopher O'Malley, would never know who was meant unless they were called 'Jem Parrican' or 'Kit Melia'; there are many such cases, and yet those are not what are called nicknames."

It is proposed to refer first to the cases of English and Irish names used synonymously, and then to other cases not falling within that category.

English and Irish Names.

The practice which prevails in Ireland of using two names appears to be largely traceable to the influence of ancient legislative action.

By a Statute of 1366, it was provided, inter alia, that "every Englishman do use the English language and be named by an English name, leaving off entirely the manner of naming used by the Irish"; and in 1465 [5 Ed. IV., cap. 3] a law was passed enacting "that every Irishman that dwells betwixt or amongst Englishmen in the County of Dublin, Myeth, Vriell, and Kildare . . . shall take to him an English surname of one town, as Sutton, Chester, Trym, Skryne, Corke, Kinsale; or colour, as white, blacke, browne; or arte or science, as smith or carpenter; or office, as cooke, butler . . ."

In many cases, where English and Irish names are used interchangeably, they are translations from one language into the other or translations of words similar in sound.

The following may be cited as examples:—

English Form.	Anglicised Irish Form.	Irish Words.
Bird, .	{ Heany, Henehan, Henekan, M <sup>c</sup> Eneany.	{ ean (ean)—a bird.
Bishop, .	Easping, Aspig,	easpo <sup>g</sup> (easbog)—a bishop.

White, .	Banane, Baun, Bawn,	bán (ban)—white.
Whitehead, .	Canavan,	{ ceann (ceann)—a head; bán (ban)—white.

The Registrar of Cappoquin District reports that a man named Bywater came into his office in order to register the death of his brother. He gave his brother's name as Michael Sruffaun. On being interrogated as to the difference in the surnames, he said that he was always known by the name of Bywater, but his brother by the name Sruffaun. Sruffaun is a local form of sruthan, an Irish word for a little stream.

In Rynn District (Mohill Union) an entry came under observation where the surname "Colreavy" was altered to "Gray." The Registrar reported in explanation that the family signed their names both as "Colreavy" and "Gray." The deceased had been in America where he signed his name as "Gray."

The Registrar of Murragh District (Bandon Union) notes the synonymous use of "Hurley" and "Commane" in his District, and remarks "Comman" is the Gaelic for "Hurley," and is a "stick with a curved boss to play goal with."

The Registrar for Riverstown District (Sligo Union) reports, regarding the names "Breheny" or "Brehony" and "Judge," above mentioned, that they were almost all "Brehenys" some time ago, but now they are becoming "Judge."

A person applied recently to one of the Registrars for the certificates of the births of his two daughters, registered as Anne and Margaret M'Girr. He stated they were christened by the name of "Short," and that he was married as "Short," but always received the name of "M'Girr"—"Short" and "M'Girr" being synonymous names.

In a death entry in Dundrum District (Union of Rathdown), the surname of deceased appeared as "Smith," while the entry was signed by his son, who gave his surname as "O'Gowan."

A marriage certificate from Enniskillen District came recently under my observation in which the bridegroom and one of the witnesses signed their surnames "Going or Smyth," the other witness signing "Going or Smith."

The Registrar of Termonfeckin District reports:—"The surnames 'Markey' and 'Rhyder' are used synonymously in my district. The more usual surname 'Markey' is most frequently used, but in the case of some families 'Rhyder' is used interchangeably for 'Markey,' one branch of a family being known by the surname 'Markey,' another by that of 'Rhyder,' and in some instances the father taking the surname 'Rhyder' and the son that of 'Markey.' I may add, that this use of the name 'Rhyder' for 'Markey' is not peculiar to my district, many of the neighbouring districts having for residents persons who are known by the synomyms 'Rhyder'—'Markey.'" "Markey" is the anglicised form of the Irish marcach (marcach), a horseman, hence the equivalent "Ryder," or "Rhyder."

There are many cases, shown in the Alphabetical List, which are not direct translations, in which equivalents, modifications, or corruptions are used interchangeably.

A Registrar reports :—“ There are two brothers—one Birmingham, and the other M‘Gorisk.” In other Districts the name “ Birmingham ” has been found to be used interchangeably with “ Magorisk ” and “ Korish.”

The names “ Blessing ” and “ Mulvanerty ” are reported to be used synonymously in two Districts in the Union of Mohill (Mohill and Rowan) and in Ballinamore District (Bawnboy Union).

The Registrar of Birr District reports :—“ A family here named ‘ Renahan ’ is sometimes called ‘ Renahan ’ and sometimes ‘ Ferns.’ They are both the same. ‘ Renahan,’ I believe, is the Irish and ‘ Ferns ’ the English synonyme.”

The Registrar of Carrigallen District (Mohill Union) reports :—“ ‘ Minagh ’ or ‘ Muinagh ’ is a synonyme for Kennedy. In two cases of these names the fathers of the families are called ‘ Pat Muinagh ’ and ‘ Francis Muinagh,’ respectively, and would scarcely be known by ‘ Kennedy.’ The children are generally called ‘ Kennedy.’ ”

The Superintendent Registrar at Cavan states :—“ The name ‘ M‘Grory ’ is used as the Irish substitute for ‘ Rogers,’ and there is an instance in the townland of Mullaghboy, in the Electoral Division of Drumlane, in which a person has been rated both as ‘ M‘Grory ’ and ‘ Rogers.’ ”

The Registrar of Draperstown District (Magherafelt Union) reports :—“ ‘ Rogers ’ now prevails here, but up to recently they were all ‘ M‘Rory.’ ”

The names “ Loughnane ” and “ Loftus ” are found to be used interchangeably. These are probably anglicised forms of the Irish name “ O‘Lachtnain.”

The effect of the difference in language on surnames is further evident in many cases given in the alphabetical list in modifying the forms of names. Thus the name “ Hyland ” has been found in the following forms :—“ Heelan,” “ Heyland,” “ Highland,” “ Hiland,” and also used synonymously with “ Whelan.” The Registrar of Ballinrobe District has furnished an interesting note regarding this name, which accounts for these variations, and also for the fact that the names “ Whelan ” and “ Phelan ” have been found to be used interchangeably in numerous districts. The Registrar remarks :—“ ‘ Hyland ’ is used interchangeably for ‘ Whelan ’ by a family who live near Kilmilkin, in the Cloonbur No. 2 District ; and though the name in this District of Ballinrobe is spelled ‘ Hyland,’ still the Irish pronunciation of it is ‘ Ui-Holan ’ or ‘ Ui-Hilan,’ which would also be the exact Irish pronunciation of the names ‘ Whélan,’ ‘ Faelan,’ ‘ Félan,’ ‘ Phélan ’—in fact, the spelling in Irish of each of the names is ‘ Ui-Faolain.’ The ‘ F ’ is aspirated, and then sounds like ‘ H,’ so that the Irish sound of the name is ‘ O‘Helan.’ ”

The late Registrar of Murragh District (Bandon Union), stated :—“ The name ‘ Keohane ’ is changed to ‘ Cowen ’ in this district, and several parts of the County Cork, and the euphony which favours this change is the same as that which occurs in the word 'Bohane,' changed into 'Bowen.'"

The Irish form of "Conway" is "Conmee." The Registrar of Draperstown District (Magherafelt Union) observes that "Conway" is the nearest approach to the full sound of the Irish word in English. The Irish "m," being aspirated, is pronounced as "w."

The following interesting note has been furnished by the late Registrar of Lettermore District:—

"The principal facts with regard to personal nomenclature in this locality are:—

"(1.) The English names or surnames are never used by the peasantry in speaking to or of one another, or even when acting as informants at registration, except where the name is so strange that it cannot be easily hibernicized, and in the latter case it is often contracted or corrupted as 'Anderson,' 'Landy'; 'Wyndham,' 'Wind,' &c.

"(2.) In many cases the English form is traceable (though often faintly) in the Irish form, which consists in the prefix 'O,' and a softening of the sound of the name to suit the Irish tongue.

"(3.) In other cases, no trace, or very little, of the English form remains, as 'M'Donogh,'—'O'Cunnacha;,' 'Walsh,'—'Brannach' (without 'the O').

"(4.) In still other cases, if the English name happens also to be a common noun or adjective, as Black, Green, Ridge, &c., the Irish form of the common noun is used, such as 'Ridge'—'Canimurra.' Canimurra means 'head of a ridge,' (as of potatoes, &c.)."

Other Names used Interchangeably.

Many cases of the synonymous use of different surnames other than the foregoing have come under the notice of this office.

A widow named "McDermott" applied to this Department for proof of her marriage and of the births of her children, with the view of obtaining a Government pension. Search was made in the Indexes in the usual way, with the result that the records of the marriage and of the births of all the children were found, except one. In this case the applicant was informed that the name did not appear in the Index. As, however, the locality in which the birth occurred was stated, a special examination was made of the records themselves, with the view of ascertaining whether there was any entry at all corresponding with the particulars furnished, and then it was discovered that the child had been registered under the surname "Dermody," which is known to be a synonyme for the name "McDermott."

The Registrar of Killeen District (Dunshaughlin Union) reports that "Tiger" is used in his district for "M'Entegart."

A Registrar writes:—"‘Hayes’ and ‘Hoy’ are used indifferently by one family connection. In the Registers, at their selection, ‘Hoy’ is entered. I requested them to select."

In another District a Registrar reports:—"M'Ineely, Conneely, and Connolly are written indiscriminately by the same family."

The names "Halfpenny" and "Halpin" are reported to be interchangeably used in several Districts. A search was recently made for the entry of the birth in Drumconrath District (Ardee Union) of a "Joseph Halpin," and he was found to be registered as "Joseph Halpenny."

The Norman name "Petit" or "Pettit" is, in one District, stated to be used synonymously with its English translation, "Little."

The Alphabetical List contains a record of numerous other cases falling within this category.

Irregular Use of Maiden Surnames.

It is a common practice for mothers of children, when registering births, to sign the entry with their maiden surname.

Cases have also frequently come under notice where in death entries deceased widows are registered under their maiden name, instead of their married name, the maiden name having been resumed on the death of the husband.

The Registrar of Tuam No. 2 further reports that in some cases in his District the mother's maiden surname is used by the children, instead of the father's, as—"John Keane," real name—"John Dunne."

CHAPTER IV.

CHRISTIAN NAMES.

ALTHOUGH variations in Christian names are not so likely to mislead as variations in surnames, yet in many cases the difference is of such a nature that names of common occurrence would be thrown out of their proper place in the Index and escape notice altogether, or, if seen, might be taken to refer to other persons.

The peculiarities in Christian names which may affect the Index may be divided into six classes.

Names applied to both Sexes.

The following may be mentioned as commonly in use :—

Florence.

Sydney or Sidney.

Evelyn.

“Cecil” may now be placed in the same category, reports having been received from Registrars in various parts of the country of its use for females as well as males.

In certain parts of County Donegal “Giles” is applied to both males and females. It occurs also as “Giley” and “Jiley.” A marriage record from Milford Union, in that county, came under my observation, in which the bride, and one of the witnesses (a female) were named “Giles.”

Sometimes ordinary Christian names distinctively belonging to one sex are given to the other. Thus a child named “Winifred” was recently registered in Cork as a male. On inquiry it was ascertained that the name and sex were both correctly entered. This name contracted to “Winfred” has also been found applied to a male. “Jane” has also been notified as applied to a male, and “Augustus” to a female.

“Nicholas” has been reported from two districts as applied to females, and “Valentine” from another district. In Belfast a female child was lately registered from the Maternity Hospital as “Irene,” but the name was subsequently corrected by the father, on statutory declaration before a magistrate, to “Robert.” In reply to a query on the subject, the Registrar stated the name given to the female child being a male name (Robert), he called the attention of the father to the fact at the time, and the father replied it was his wish to have the child called “Robert.”

The names of saints are frequently given to male and female children as Christian names without reference to the sex, for instance, “Joseph Mary,” or “Mary Joseph,” for a male; “Mary Joseph,” or “Johanna Mary Aloysius,” for a female.

There are some names similar in sound, where the sex is indicated only by a slight difference in spelling, which, when badly written are liable to be mistaken, such as Francis—Frances, Olave—Olive, Jesse—Jessie.

Occasionally surnames are used as Christian names, and applied to either sex.

Abbreviations applicable to both Sexes.

The following abbreviations are applicable to both sexes:—
 “Joe” for “Joseph,” “Josephine,” and “Johauna”; “Phil” for “Philip” and “Philomena”; “Fred” for “Frederick” and “Frederica”; “Matty” for Matthew” and “Matilda”; “Jemmie” for “James” and “Jemima”; “Harry” for “Henry” and “Harriett”; “Ally” for “Aloysius” and “Alice.”

In some cases contractions usually applied to one sex are applied to the other, such as—

“Edie” (usual contraction for “Edith” female name) for “Adam,” male.

“Elly” (usual contraction for “Ellen” or “Ella,” female name) for “Oliver,” male.

“Kitty” (usual contraction for “Catherine,” female name) for “Christopher,” male.

“Amy” (usual contraction for “Amelia,” female name) for “Ambrose,” male.

“Jerry” (usual contraction for “Jeremiah,” male name) for “Gertrude,” female.

“Lotty” (usual contraction for “Charlotte,” female name) for “Laughlin,” male.

Abbreviations materially differing from the Original Name.

The following may be mentioned in illustration:—

Males—	Bartly, Bartel, Bat . . . . .	for Bartholomew.
—	Tatty . . . . .	for Clotworthy.
—	Criddy . . . . .	for Christian.
—	Larry . . . . .	for Laurence.
—	Rody, Rory . . . . .	for Roderick.
—	Lack, Lacky . . . . .	for Laughlin.
—	Moss . . . . .	for Maurice.
—	Mundy . . . . .	for Redmond.
Females—	Nancy, Nanny . . . . .	for Anne.
—	Bessie, Lizzie . . . . .	for Elizabeth.
—	Cassie . . . . .	for Catherine.
—	Honor, Norah, Noey, Onny . . . . .	for Hanorah.
—	Polly, Molly . . . . .	for Mary.
—	Jugge . . . . .	for Judith.
—	Nappy . . . . .	for Penelope.
—	Shibby . . . . .	for Isabella.
—	Sia . . . . .	for Cecilia.
—	Louie . . . . .	for Lucinda.
—	Peggy . . . . .	for Margaret.

The Registrar of Toome District (Ballymena Union) reports:—
 “As a Christian name ‘Clotworthy’ becomes ‘Tatty.’ Two men called ‘Clotworthy’—Livingstone, are known respectively as ‘Black Tatty’ and ‘Red Tatty’ Levesen.”

The Registrar of Westport No. 2 District observes—"‘Nappy’ is a very common name in the Leenane District, and the people generally are unaware that it is ‘Penelope’; the latter is obsolete.”

Different names used interchangeably.

The following may be instanced :—

Males—Alexander . . .	Alaster, Sandy.
——— Edward . . .	Edmond.
——— Florence . . .	Finian.
——— Gerald . . .	Garrett, Garret, Gerard.
——— Owen . . .	Eugene.
——— Hugh . . .	Hubert.
——— Moses . . .	Aidan.
——— Peter . . .	Pierce.
——— Ulysses . . .	Ulick.
——— Connor . . .	Cornelius.
Females—Bridget . . .	Bedelia, Delia, Beesy.
——— Gobinet . . .	Abigail, Deborah.
——— Johanna, Joanna . . .	Jane.
——— Julia . . .	Judith.
——— Julia . . .	Johanna.
——— Winifred . . .	Unity, Una, Uny.

An application was recently made to me for the correction of the age of an “Aidan Dillon” in a death entry. On investigation it transpired that his birth, which occurred in Camolin District (Gorey Union), was registered under the name “Moses Dillon.”

Not only are the names “Gobinet” and “Abigail” used interchangeably, but their contractions, “Gubbie” and “Abbie” or “Abby,” are similarly used.

In the certificate of a marriage in Darrynane District (Caherciveen Union), the bride’s name was given as “Gubbie” in the body of the record, while her signature appeared as “Abbie.” The Registrar reported—“I find that ‘Gubbie’ is really a contraction of ‘Gobinet,’ and ‘Abbie’ a name in itself; but the custom among the people here appears to be to use the names ‘Gubbie,’ ‘Abbie,’ and ‘Webbie’ as if they were different forms of the same name.” In Emlagh District, in the same Union, the forms “Gubby” and “Deborah” or “Debbie” have been found to be used interchangeably.

The Superintendent Registrar of Castlecomer Union reports—“the people of the County Kilkenny and some other places consider the names ‘Johanna,’ ‘Judith,’ and ‘Julia’ to be the same.”

Irish Equivalents for English Names.

Several such cases have been found. The following may be mentioned :—

English Names.	Anglicised Irish Forms.
Males—Bernard . . .	Bryan.
——— Daniel . . .	Dhonal.
——— Edmond . . .	Aimon, Eamon, Mon.
——— Jeremiah . . .	Darby, Dermot, Diarmid, Diarmud.

English Names.		Anglicised Irish Forms.
Males—John	.	Shane.
—Moses	.	Magsheesh, Mogue.
—James	.	Shemus, Shamus.
—Timothy	.	Teigue, Thiag, Thigue, Theigue.
—Michael	.	Meehal, Meehall.
—Patrick	.	Paudrick, Phadrig.
—Cornelius	.	Nahor.
—Philip	.	Phelim.
—William	.	Laymeen, Leam.
—Dudley	.	Dualtagh.
—Francis	.	Phrinchas.
—Denis	.	Dinogha.
Females—Susan	}{	Shovaun.
—Johanna	.
—Bridget	.	Brideen, Breedha.
—Mary	.	Maura, Maureen, Moira, Moya.
—Maud	.	Meav.
—Mabel	.	Nabla.
—Celia, Cecily or	}{	Sheela, Sheelah.
—Cicely	.
—Sophia	.	Sawa.
—Julia	.	Sheela.

The Registrar of Stewartstown District, Cookstown Union, reports:—"Darby Martin lived in Brookend and his son is called Jeremiah Martin, after his father."

The name "Mago" has been observed in Kiltegan District (Baltinglass Union), in Kilmashogue District, and in Annascaul and Dingle Districts, in Dingle Union. To a query addressed to the Registrar of the last-named district, regarding the origin of the name, the following reply was received:—"From all the information I could obtain it appears that 'Manus' is the Irish anglicised into 'Mago,' or, in some families, 'Mane.' When the father's name is 'Mago,' and a child is called after him, the latter is generally called 'Mane,' to distinguish him from the former. The name is very general in two families in this Barony."

Cases of Incorrect Spelling.

The under-mentioned, amongst others, have been met with:—

Males—Philip	.	.	Filip.
—Sylvester	.	.	Cylvester.
Females—Alicia	.	.	Alisha, Elisha.
—Cecily	.	.	Sicely.
—Charlotte	.	.	Sharlot, Sharlotte
—Elinor	.	.	Elnar.
—Esther	.	.	Osther, Easter.
—Harriett	.	.	Hargot, Hargate.
—Kate	.	.	Cate.
—Magdalene	.	.	Magdillon.

Peculiar names found in the Indexes.

It only remains in conclusion to refer to some peculiar names, many of them the names of local patron saints, which are liable to be mis-spelt, or otherwise metamorphosed, so as to be thrown out of their proper place in the Indexes. Thus, the name "Ailbe," the patron saint of Emly diocese, has been found in the forms, "Elli," and "Elly," as well as in its proper form "Ailbe."

Two cases recently came under notice in Kilrush Union where the Christian name "Sinon" was given to males. This name is taken from the name of a local saint—St. Senan—and has been met with also in the forms "Senan" and "Synan."

The name "Gourney" for a female was entered in the Register Book of Deaths for Ardrahan District, in Gort Union, County Galway. In reply to a query, the Registrar stated—"This is the only Christian name I could obtain for this woman after a considerable amount of trouble. It is pronounced 'Gurney,' but I believe it is spelt with an 'o.' It is a very uncommon name, but on inquiry I found that St. Gourney is considered the patron saint of a locality not far from here." This name has been reported from Kinvarra District (Gort Union), as "Gurney."

The names "Gillan," "Geelan," and "Keelan," have been reported by the Superintendent Registrar at Mohill, as forms of the name "Kilian," from St. Kilian.

The various forms "Cairn," "Cairán," "Kiaran," "Keiran," "Kieran," and "Kyran," which occur in many parts of Ireland, and are derived from the names of local saints, are very liable to cause confusion in searching. They are sometimes found under the letter "C" and sometimes under the letter "K." Several Registrars report their use under both initial letters in the same locality.

Two entries of birth came under observation in which the name of the child in one and the name of the father in the other were given as "Maur." It was supposed that this was an error in copying for "Maurice," and the Registrar was asked for an explanation. In reply he stated—"Maur, for all I can find out, may be an abbreviation of 'Maurice,' but in this town (Rush), they are looked upon as entirely distinct. Rush, being a fishing village, it was dedicated to St. Maur, who is the patron saint of the place." The Registrar adds that St Maur is the original of the name "Seymour," and it might readily assume that form as a Christian name.

A Registrar reports—"Some years ago a man gave me 'Eden' (pronouncing 'E' like the long English 'A') as the name of his daughter. I told him I knew no such name. He rather indignantly asked me did I never hear of the Garden of Eden, and said he called her after that." In this case had the Registrar entered the name as pronounced by the informant it would have appeared in the Index as 'Adan' or 'Aidan,' a well-known male name, and thus, probably, altogether escaped observation.

Other peculiar names have been found, such as "Kado," "Gainuel," "Dill" (in various districts in County Donegal), and "Flan," for males; also "Coosey," and "Afric" (in various parts of Donegal), for females. As, however, such names, if correctly written, do not affect searches, it is unnecessary to refer further to them.

MEMORANDUM EXPLANATORY OF ALPHABETICAL LIST.

IT now remains to add a short explanation of the structure of the Alphabetical List.

It has been compiled from (a) office notes made from time to time for many years past of cases actually coming under observation in the examination of the Records and preparation of the Indexes; (b) from special reports received from the Superintendent Registrars and Registrars of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, and the District Registrars of Marriages, under the 7 and 8 Vic., cap. 81; and (c) from the results of a special examination of the printed Indexes in the General Register Office.

The list does not profess to be a complete list of surnames, but only a list of those surnames of which varieties have been met with or reported by local officers to be used in their localities,

The principal names are printed in capitals and numbered throughout consecutively. It is not to be understood that these are the original forms of the names, but the forms which appear to be now most commonly in use.

The names following each of the principal names are the varieties and synonymes of same stated to exist. Where printed in italics they have been reported to be Irish forms (or equivalents) of English names, or vice versa. Where a variety is placed in brackets, thus "[Cromie]," it will be found also as a principal name, and where given thus:—

“Archbold or “Snowden (Snedden)” (Aspell),”

the second name has been reported as a variety of the form of the name immediately preceding it.

It is not intended to convey that the names appearing under the principal names are in all cases forms of the same name, but only that they have been found to have been used interchangeably in the examination of the registration records, or that they have been reported to be so used by local officers.

Neither is it to be inferred that the use of a particular synonyme is general throughout the country. In many cases it is only local. On the other hand, in some cases, the same peculiarities have been observed in many different parts of the country.

Frequently the same name appears as a variety under different principal names. Thus "Cahan" is used as an alias for "Kane," and also for "Keohane."

In many instances numbers have been added after the name to denote the districts from which the variety has been reported. The key to these reference numbers is printed after the list. In cases not so marked, the variety has been met with in the examination of the records in this office.

With the view of curtailing the size of the list, the following will generally be found under one form only:—1. Names ending in ie, y, or ey, as Dempsie . Dempsey . Dempsey. 2. Names terminating with double consonants, as Farrell . Farre .

PREFACE.

THE following Special Report was originally prepared by me and issued as an Appendix to the Twenty-ninth Annual Report of the Registrar-General for Ireland. It has been for some years out of print, but a motion having been made in the House of Commons by Mr. Jeremiah MacVeagh, M.P., for its re-printing, the Government have now sanctioned its issue as a Stationery Office Publication.

In re-issuing the Report, I have inserted, as an Addendum, the List of the Names of Irish Septs given in the Book of Arms, compiled by Sir James Terry, Athlone Herald (1690), now preserved in the British Museum.

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS.

The investigation into the personal names of the people of any country is a subject surrounded with very great interest. By means of family nomenclature much light can be thrown on the early employments and customs of a people, as well as the sources from which they have sprung. In fact, the history of our country lies enshrined in its Surnames; and on our shop fronts and in our graveyards may be found side by side the names of the descendants of the Milesian Prince, of the Scandinavian Viking, and of the Norman Knight.

So far back as 1851 the Census Commissioners for that year attempted to arrange the Surnames of the country in such a way as to show their distribution. The effort, however, proved unsuccessful, owing to the difficulties met with, and when the names were partially extracted the task was abandoned.

At the termination of the Census of 1881, the late Dr. Lyons, then M.P. for Dublin, pressed the Government to institute an inquiry into names, such as had been attempted in 1851, and his proposal was very favourably entertained, but as the work of the Census Department was then about to close, the Commissioners were unable to comply with his request.

It may be observed that as a preliminary to any successful effort to tabulate the Surnames in the country, some codification of the variations in form and spelling was necessary. With this and other objects in view, from the materials collected during many years in the General Register Office, as well as special reports obtained from local officers in the Registration Service, I prepared in 1890 a treatise entitled "Varieties and Synonymes of Surnames and Christian Names in Ireland," which was issued by the Registrar-General for use in connection with searches in his Office, and in those of the Superintendent Registrars and Registrars throughout the country.

That book set forth the principal orthographical changes in Surnames, exhibiting the varieties in spelling; the use of prefixes and affixes; spelling according to usual pronunciation; older forms of names showing the alterations they have undergone in course of time; local variations in spelling and form, exhibiting the tendency of names to assume different forms in different localities; variations in spelling at pleasure; and changes owing to illiteracy and other causes.

It further contained examples of the use of entirely different names interchangeably by the same person, a practice which prevails in some parts of Ireland, many being cases of translation of Irish names into English, or vice versa, or equivalents, modifications, or corruptions of them. A table was also given showing cases of English names and their Irish equivalents met with in the Registration Records. The work also contained an Alphabetical List of Surnames, with their Varieties and Synonymes, and a Table showing the respective Poor Law Unions and Districts in which many of the peculiarities had been found.

The reception which that book met with at the hands of the Press and the Public was very gratifying, and I determined to attempt, in connection with the Census of 1891, the interesting work of extracting and classifying the Surnames of the population generally on the lines unsuccessfully followed in 1851. An unexpected occurrence, however, prevented this. The Census Records which previously afforded complete data for the purpose were, in 1891, rendered imperfect in this respect, owing to the insertion of a clause in the Act of Parliament, directing that in the case of Inmates of Public Institutions, initials only should be given in the Enumeration Forms.

The Surnames of a considerable number of persons were thus omitted from these Records, and the question arose whether with these imperfect data, the work should be abandoned, or whether the general results could not be obtained with sufficient accuracy from other sources.

The Indexes of the General Register Office afford a reliable basis on which to found general conclusions regarding Surnames, and though in the Index for any one year all the Surnames in the country will not be found, yet if a name be of frequent occurrence it is certain to be represented in the Index, the number of entries opposite the name indicating its relative frequency with respect to other Surnames.

The Indexes further afford facilities for distributing the Surnames over the country, as in the case of each entry the Poor Law Union is given.

In view of these facts, I decided to take these Indexes as the basis of my inquiries, and I was confirmed in my determination by the opinion of that eminent scholar, the late Right Rev. Dr. Reeves, Lord Bishop of Down, Connor, and Dromore, and President of the Royal Irish Academy, who encouraged me to undertake the task, and promised me his cordial assistance. His lamented death, however, unhappily deprived me of the benefit of his valuable aid and advice.

I may mention that both in England and Scotland the subject of personal nomenclature has received attention, and statistics relating thereto, derived from the Indexes of Births, Deaths, and Marriages, have been published by the respective Registrars-General, to which I shall further refer.

I have divided the consideration of the subject as follows :—

- 1st. The principal Surnames in Ireland compared with those in other portions of the United Kingdom.
- 2nd. The Derivation of Surnames in Ireland.
- 3rd. Surnames in Ireland Ethnologically considered.
- 4th. The Local Distribution of Surnames in Ireland.

*NOTE.—The Surnames indicated by an asterisk occur under two or more different spellings.

It will be seen from the foregoing Tables that the name "Murphy" stands first in Ireland, in order of numerical strength, representing an estimated number of 62,600 persons (or 13·3 per thousand of the population), and that in both England and Scotland the name "Smith" occupies the first place, representing, it is estimated, in England and Wales (in the year 1853) 253,600 persons (or 13·8 per thousand of the population), and in Scotland (in the year 1863) 44,200, or 14·2 per thousand of the population.

The second place on the Irish List is held by the name "Kelly," representing 55,900 persons (or 11·8 per thousand of the population). In the English Tables "Jones" has the second place, representing, it is estimated, 242,100 people (or 13·2 per thousand). It is the most common name in the Principality of Wales, and its prevalence there has given it the high place it occupies on the List for the country generally. The Registrar-General for England states that in some years the Joneses contributed to the registers a larger number of Births than even the Smiths. In Scotland the second place is held by "M'Donald," the estimated population bearing the name being 36,600, or 11·8 per thousand.

The third place in Ireland is filled by "Sullivan," the number of persons of which name it is estimated amounts to 43,600 (or 9·2 per thousand). In England "Williams" is the third name in numerical importance, representing 159,900 persons (or 8·7 per thousand). In Scotland "Brown" stands third, reckoning 33,800 (or 10·9 per thousand).

Several names among the first Fifty on the Irish List appear on the Lists for one or both of the other Divisions of the Kingdom. Thus "Smith" is 5th in Ireland and 1st in England and Scotland; "Murray" is 18th in Ireland, and 17th in Scotland; "Moore" is 20th in Ireland, and 39th in England; "Wilson" is 26th in Ireland, 11th in England, and 8th in Scotland; "Campbell" is 31st in Ireland, and 7th in Scotland; "Clarke" (or "Clark") is 32nd in Ireland, 9th (taking both spellings) in England, and 18th in Scotland; "Johnston" appears 33rd in Ireland, and 16th in Scotland; "Hughes" appears 34th in Ireland, and 19th in England; "Brown" is 37th in Ireland, 6th in England, and 3rd in Scotland; "Martin" is 38th in Ireland, 31st in England, and 48th in Scotland; "Thompson" or "Thomson" is 42nd in Ireland, 15th in England, and 4th in Scotland; "White" is 50th in Ireland, 22nd in England, and 41st in Scotland.

It will also be observed that among the second fifty names on the Irish List, several appear in the first fifty of England or Scotland. Thus,— "Stewart" is 58th in Ireland, and 6th in Scotland; "Robinson," 73rd in Ireland, and 12th in England; "Ward," 78th in Ireland, and 30th in England; "Reid," 81st in Ireland, and 13th in Scotland; "Graham," 82nd in Ireland, and 40th in Scotland; "King," 86th in Ireland, and 36th in England; "Bell," 89th in Ireland, and 47th in Scotland; "Scott," 90th in Ireland, and 10th in Scotland; and "M'Donald," which is 95th in Ireland, is 2nd in Scotland.

It will be perceived, however, that most of the names in Ireland with the larger numbers are peculiar to this country, representing the names of Irish Clans and Septs, such as the Murphys, Kellys, Sullivans, O'Briens, Byrnes, Ryans, Connors, O'Neills, Reillys, Doyles, McCarthys, Gallaghers, Dohertys, &c.

The Scotch Clans are similarly represented in the List for Scotland, such as the M'Donalds, M'Kenzies, M'Gregors, M'Leods, M'Kays, Campbells, Stewarts, Camerons, &c.

CHAPTER III.

DERIVATION OF SURNAMES.

The consideration of the Derivation of Surnames forms an interesting branch of study, but it would be impossible within the limits of this Report to enter fully into the subject, and all that can be attempted is to give a brief summary of its main sub-divisions as applicable to this Country.

Surnames in Ireland may be divided with reference to their derivation into six classes, viz. :—

1. FROM PERSONAL NAMES.
2. FROM RANK OR OCCUPATION.
3. FROM THE ANIMAL, VEGETABLE, AND MINERAL KINGDOMS.
4. FROM LOCALITY.
5. FROM PERSONAL PECULIARITIES OR ATTRIBUTES.
6. OTHER SURNAMES.

1. The following examples may be given of Surnames derived from Personal names :—

CELTIC NAMES.

McShane, · · ·	( MacShawn —Irish. Son of John).	O'Ferrall, · · ·	( O'Feargal —Irish. The descendant of Feargal ).
McFadden, · · ·	( MacPaidin —Irish. Son of little Patrick).	O'Toole, · · ·	( O'Tuathail —Irish. The descendant of Tuathal )
McAndrew, · · ·	( MacAindris —Irish. Son of Andrew).	McDonnell, · · ·	( MacDomhnaill —Irish. Son of Donall ).
McHugh, · · ·	( MacAedha —Irish. Son of Hugh).	McKeown, · · ·	( MacEoghain —Irish. Son of Eoghan or Owen ).
McDermott, · · ·	( MacDiarmada —Irish. Son of Diarmaid ).	McRory, · · ·	( MacRuadhri —Irish. Son of Ruadhri ) ( Rory ).

Many Surnames derived from Celtic Names are compounded with the word “Giolla”—a servant (or disciple) of—such as—

Kilbride, · · ·	( GiollaBridghid —The Servant of St. Bridget ).	Gildea, · · ·	( GiollaDé —the Servant of God).
Gilpatrick, · · ·	( GiollaPadraic —the Servant of St. Patrick ).	Gilfoyle, · · ·	( GiollaPhoil —the Servant of St. Paul ).
Gilechrist, · · ·	( GiollaChriosd —the Servant of Christ ).

Maol is also prefixed to the names of Saints, signifying a bald or tonsured person who became the spiritual servant of such Saint, as—

Maol-Dubhan [Maoldun],—the Servant of St. Dubhan. Anglicised—Muldoon.

ENGLISH NAMES.

Abraham.	Fergus.	Jacob.	Lawrence.	Roberts.	Thomas.
Adams.	Ferguson.	James.	Mathews.	Robinson.	Thompson.
Adamson.	Henry.	Jameson.	Paul.	Rodgers.	Williams.
Davidson.	Jackson.	Johnson.	Peters.	Stevenson.	Williamson.

2. Surnames from Rank or Occupation.—The following may be selected by way of illustration :—

CELTIC NAMES.

McGowan,	( Gobha —Irish—a Smith, son of the Smith).	McCraith,	( Craith —Irish—to weave, son of the Weaver).
Breheny,	( Breathamh —Irish—a Judge).	Davin,	( Daimh —Irish—a Poet).
Cleary,	( Cleireach —Irish—a Clerk)	McIntyre,	( Mac-an-t-Saoir —Irish— the son of the Work- man).
Ward,	( Bhard —Irish—a Bard).
Colgan,	( Colg —Irish—a sword, a Swordsman).

ENGLISH NAMES.

Abbott.	Butler.	Deacon.	Fuller.	Mason.	Prior.
Archer.	Carpenter.	Draper.	Gardiner.	Mercer.	Sexton.
Baker.	Chandler.	Farmer.	Gardner.	Naylor.	Sheppard.
Barber.	Clarke.	Forrester.	Glover.	Page.	Smith.
Bishop.	Cooke.	Forster.	Harper.	Porter.	Taylor.
Butcher.	Cooper.	Fowler.	Hunter.	Potter.	Usher.

3. Many Surnames are taken from natural objects in the Animal, Vegetable, and Mineral Kingdoms, such as :—

CELTIC NAMES.

Carrick,	(from carraig —a rock).	Darragh,	(from dair —an oak).
Clough.	(from cloch —a stone).	Mullally,	(from eala —a swan).
Columb,	(from colum —a dove).	Quilty,	(from coilte —woods).
Cunneen,	(from coinin —a rabbit).	Sheedy,	(from sioda —silk).

ENGLISH NAMES.

Ashe.	Clay.	Fox.	Moss.	Silver.	Veale.
Bird.	Crowe.	Hare.	Peacock.	Spratt.	Waters.
Buck.	Deer.	Heron.	Pidgeon.	Sturgeon.	Woods.
Bull.	Dove.	Hogg.	Rabbit.	Swan.	Woulfe.
Chestnutt.	Forrest.	Lamb.

4. Surnames derived from Locality.—Surnames derived from locality, which in England and Scotland form a large class, are but rarely met with in this country, and in most of these cases considerable doubt exists as to whether the surname has been acquired from the locality.

The following surnames amongst others are the names of localities in Ireland :—

Adair (Adare).	Borris.	Galway.	Kilkenny.	Monaghan.
Ardagh.	Cashell, (Cashel).	Kells.	Limerick.	Monahan.
Athy.	Cavan.	Kilcullen.	Longford.	Pallas.

The following names of localities in England and Scotland are also found amongst surnames in this Country :—

Birmingham.	Carlisle.	Galloway.	Glasgow.	Lincoln.	Peebles.
Birmingham.	Carlile.	Girvan.	Hastings.	Paisley.	Sherwood.
Cambridge.

5. Surnames derived from Personal Peculiarities or Attributes, such as :—

CELTIC NAMES.

Roe,	· (Ruadh—red).	Casey,	· (Cathaiseach—valiant).
Duft,	· (Dubh—black).	Dempsey,	· (Diomusach—arrogant).
Lauder,	· (Laidir—strong).	Brody,	· (Brodach—proud).
Daly,	· (Dall—blind).	Corcoran,	· (Corcurach—purple or red).
McGirr,	· (Gor—short).

ENGLISH NAMES.

Black.	Gray.	Long.	Short.	Strong.	Wise.
Brown.	Jolly.	Meek.	Shortt.	Swift.	Wyse.
Browne.	Little.	Merry.	Small.	White.
Fair.	Lyttle.

6. Other Surnames.—There are many surnames not falling in any of the above classes, such as those from :—

Parts of the Body (Celtic Names)—Kinnavy (cnamh—Irish—a bone); McCosh (cos—Irish—a foot); McClave (lamh—Irish—the hand); (English Names)—Beard, Foote, Head, Legge.

Names of the Seasons, as Spring, Summers, Winter.

Points of the Compass, as North, South, East, West.

Natural Objects, as Field, Flood, Hill, Snow.

Other Sources, as Church, Ferry, Hood, Hunt, Kirk.

It may be interesting to quote here the remarks of the Registrar-General for England and Wales regarding the derivation of Family Names found in those countries.

Major Graham remarked in his 16th Annual Report, already referred to :—"The most striking circumstance presented by the Indexes is the extraordinary number and variety of the surnames of the English people. Derived from almost every imaginable object, from the names of places, from trades and employments, from personal peculiarities, from the Christian name of the father, from objects in the Animal and Vegetable kingdoms, from things animate and inanimate; their varied character is as remarkable as their singularity is often striking. Some of the terms which swell the list are so odd, and even ridiculous, that it is difficult to assign any satisfactory reason for their assumption in the first instance as family names, unless indeed, as has been conjectured, they were nicknames or sobriquets, which neither the first bearers nor their posterity could avoid."

Referring to Welsh surnames he stated :—"In Wales, however, the surnames, if surnames they can be called, do not present the same variety, most of them having been formed in a simple manner from the Christian or fore-name of the father in the Genitive case, son being understood. Thus, Evan's son became Evans, John's son Jones, &c. Others were derived from the father's name coalesced with a form of the word ap or hab (son of), by which Hugh ap Howell became Powell, Evan ap Hugh became Pugh, and in like manner were formed nearly all the Welsh surnames beginning with the letters B and P. Hereditary surnames were not in use even amongst the gentry of Wales until the time of Henry VIII., nor were they generally established until a much later period; indeed, at the present day they can scarcely be said to be adopted amongst the lower classes in the wilder districts, where, as the marriage registers show, the Christian name of the father still frequently becomes the patronymic of the son in the manner just described."

With respect to Cornish names the Report states :—“ From the circumstance of their common British origin it might be supposed that the Welsh people and the inhabitants of Cornwall would exhibit some analogous principles in the construction of their surnames ; such, however, is not the case. The Cornish surnames are mostly local, derived from words of British root, and they are often strikingly peculiar. A large number have the prefix Tre, a town ; the words Pol, a pool, Pen, a head, Ros, a heath, and Lan, a church, are also of frequent occurrence in surnames.”

With regard to the derivation of names in Scotland, the Registrar-General for that country in his 6th Report, remarks :—“ Almost all the names of our Border and Highland Clans belong to the first class ” [Surnames derived from Patronymics], “ and they are peculiarly Scottish, neither belonging to England nor to Ireland. These Surnames include all those beginning with Mac, as Macgregor, Mactaggart, etc., besides those simple ones, as Fraser, Douglas, Cameron, Kerr, Grant, &c.” . . . “ The Surnames derived from rank and occupation are very numerous, but are equally common to England as to Scotland.” . . . “ Surnames taken from the locality in which the persons originally resided form a very numerous class, and they also are, to a great extent, peculiar to Scotland, seeing that there is scarcely a county, parish, town, river, or remarkable locality but has its name perpetuated in the Surnames.” . . . “ The sobriquets perpetuated as Surnames are, perhaps, the most varied of all, and embrace every personal or mental quality supposed to reside in the different individuals to whom they were originally given.”

The personal Names in the Isle of Man are of considerable interest in connection with Irish Surnames, as that Island has passed through phases of occupancy somewhat similar to those of this country. Its history may be divided into three periods : the first, when it was inhabited by Celts similar in race and language to the Irish ; the second, the period of Scandinavian domination ; and the third, the time during which it has been under English dominion. The names in the Island represent each of these periods. As in Ireland, the largest number of names are derived from words of Celtic origin ; some are from Scandinavian roots, and there are now a large number of names traceable to English sources.

On visiting the Island, I was much struck by the peculiar forms many names had assumed there differing from those found in Ireland, though evidently derived from the same source. Thus, the name “ Clucas ” is the Manx form of Lucas, both names being derived from the Celtic MacLucais—son of Luke. “ Cannell,” a name peculiar to the Isle of Man, is derived from the Celtic MacConaill—son of Conall. The Irish modern form is M’Connell.

"Kermode," another Manx name, is contracted from the Celtic name MacDiarmaid, son of Diarmaid—Irish modern form M'Dermott. "Mylchreest" is derived from the Celtic MacGiolla Chriosd—the son of the servant of Christ. The modern Irish form is Gilchrist. Many other instances could be adduced.

CHAPTER IV.

SURNAMES IN IRELAND ETHNOLOGICALLY CONSIDERED.

CELTIC NAMES.

The present population of Ireland is a mixture of a number of different races in which the Celtic is the predominant element.

The great bulk of the most common names in the country are undoubtedly of Celtic origin. Many of them still retain the prefixes O and Mac, the former peculiar to Ireland and the latter used both in Ireland and Scotland. In many cases, however, these prefixes have been dropped. It is a matter of common occurrence to find in the same record Celtic names written with the prefixes O and Mac and without them.

It is impossible now, in some cases, to trace whether families are of Celtic or English descent, as some of the English settlers took Irish names, and Irish families were compelled to adopt English surnames.

By a Statute of 1366, it was provided, inter alia, that "Every Englishman do use the English language, and be named by an English name, leaving off entirely the manner of naming used by the Irish"; and in 1465 (5 Ed. IV., cap. 3), a law was passed enacting "that every Irishman that dwells betwixt or amongst Englishmen in the County of Dublin, Myeth, Vriell, and Kildare . . . shall take to him an English Surname of one town, as Sutton, Chester, Trym, Skryne, Corke, Kinsale; or colour, as white, blacke, browne; or arte or science, as smith or carpenter; or office, as cooke, butler . . ."

The existence of the two languages in the country accounts for the practice which prevails in some parts of Ireland of using English names with their Irish translations or equivalents interchangeably, some particulars regarding which will be found in my Book of Varieties and Synonymes of Surnames and Christian Names in Ireland already referred to.

The Annals of the Four Masters, and other eminent Authorities, afford information whereby the ancient location of the principal Irish Tribes and Septs can be approximately ascertained, and Tribal Maps of Ireland have been published from time to time, among which the following may be mentioned:—

1. A Map showing the territories of the Irish Princes and Chiefs—the various Septs subordinate to them, etc., also the Districts in possession of the English Lords, their armorial bearings, etc.; A.D. 1567.

[A copy of this Map will be found appended to State Papers of Henry VIII., Vol. 2, Part 3, and another copy in National Manuscripts of Ireland, Part IV.-1; No. 5.]

2. Hiberniae, Britanniæ Insulæ, Nova Descriptio, by Abraham Ortelius, 1572.

3. Ortelius improved, or a new Map of Ireland wherein are inserted the principal Families of Irish and English Extraction, who possessed that kingdom on the commencement of the 17th Century. Published according to Act of Parliament by P. Wogan, Old Bridge No. 23, Dublin.

4. A Topographical and Historical Map of Ancient Ireland by Baronies, by Philip MacDermott, M.D., attached to Connellan's Annals of the Four Masters. Published in 1846. (This Map has since been reproduced both in Ireland and in America.)

From these sources the following list of the principal Ancient Celtic Families, with the Counties in which they were located, has been compiled :—

By comparing the foregoing Lists with the Table at the end of this Report, it can be seen how far these families are at present represented in the localities formerly inhabited by them and in the country at large. The above Tables, however, exhibit the information for counties proper, whereas the Tables on pages 32-34 and 37-75 are compiled by Registration Counties, i.e., groups of entire Poor Law Unions most nearly representing the area of the county proper. The differences are for the most part slight, but in a few instances the name may be found in the county proper immediately adjoining.

It will be seen that some of these names have spread all over Ireland, such as Murphy, Kelly, Kennedy, Maguire, Quinn, &c. Some of these Families have disappeared, or have migrated to another part of the country, or their names have become so altered in process of time as to be incapable of identification.

In many cases, however, the descendants of the ancient families are still domiciled in the same tracts as their forefathers, as shown in the following instances :—

The MacCabes were a warlike clan originally from County Monaghan, but subsequently settled in County Cavan. At the present time they are largely represented in the population of each of these counties.

The MacCarthys were anciently Kings and Princes of Desmond, Southern Munster, i.e., County Cork, the greater part of Kerry, and portions of Waterford and Tipperary. The MacCarthys are now resident principally in the Counties of Cork, Kerry, and Limerick, more than half of them being found in County Cork.

The MacDermotts were ancient Princes of Moylurg, having their territories in the Barony of Boyle, County Roscommon, and parts of the Parishes of Islandeady, Turlough, and Breaffy, in Counties Sligo and Mayo. Their chief fortress was on an island in Lough Key, near Boyle, and they were hereditary Marshals of Connaught. At the present time Connaught is the province in which the MacDermotts are principally found, and half of the persons of the name in that province belong to County Roscommon.

The Munster MacMahons formerly possessed the greater part of the Baronies of Moyarta and Clonderalaw, in the County Clare, in which county the predominant name now is McMahon.

The O'Byrnes anciently possessed the greater part of the Barony of Ballinacor, County Wicklow, and were powerful Chiefs in that part of the country. Byrne is the leading name now in the Counties of Wicklow, Dublin, and Louth.

The original habitat of the O'Driscolls was the Barony of West Carbery, in County Cork, where O'Driscoll was Lord of Baltimore, and possessed the Island of Cape Clear and adjacent territory. The great majority of the present Driscolls are to be found there.

The O'Doghertys were a powerful Sept in County Donegal, and were located in Inishowen Barony, of which O'Dogherty was Lord. The Doghertys or Dohertys are numerously represented there at the present time.

The O'Flahertys were originally located in the Barony of Clare, County Galway, but in the thirteenth century, having been expelled from this territory, they settled in the Barony of Moycullen, and were styled Lords of Iar Conacht or West Connaught. A large number of the Flahertys are now to be found in the Baronies of Moycullen, Ross, and Ballinahinch, in County Galway.

The O'Gallaghers were a warlike Clan in the Baronies of Raphoe and Tirhugh, County Donegal. As will be seen from the Table on page 33, Gallagher is now the most numerously represented name in County Donegal.

In ancient times the O'Keeffes were Marshals and chief military leaders of Desmond. They possessed several castles, and were styled Princes of Fermoy. The principal county for the Keeffes and O'Keeffes at present is Cork.

The O'Mahonys were anciently located in Cork and Kerry, where they were powerful Chiefs and sometimes styled Princes. They had several castles along the sea-coast. In County Cork an O'Mahony was Lord of Ivaugh, in the Barony of West Carbery, and an O'Mahony was Chief in Kinalea Barony. In County Kerry there was a Chief of the name in the Barony of Iveragh, and there were O'Mahonys in the Barony of Clanmaurice. The majority of persons of the name of Mahony or O'Mahony are still found in these two counties.

The O'Malleys were celebrated Chiefs whose territory comprised the present Baronies of Murrisk and Burrishoole in the County Mayo. The Malleys and O'Malleys are now located principally in the two baronies named, and in that of Erris, in County Mayo.

The O'Meaghers were formerly powerful Chiefs possessing the Barony of Ikerrin, in County Tipperary, of which O'Meagher was Lord. The Meaghers or Mahers are principally found in the County Tipperary at present.

The O'Mearas had an extensive territory in the Barony of Upper Ormond, County Tipperary, in which O'Meara was a Chief. The name of their principal residence, Tuam-ui-Meara, is still retained in the town of Toomyvara. The Mearas or O'Mearas are still numerous in that locality.

The name Moriarty is now largely represented in County Kerry, in which county the O'Moriartys were Chiefs in the Barony of Dunkerron.

O'Mulvey was a Chief in the Barony of Mohill, County Leitrim, in which county about 50 per cent. of persons bearing the name Mulvey are now found.

The name Noonan occurs chiefly in Cork, in which county the O'Noonans formerly dwelt. O'Noonan was a Chief in Duhallow Barony, and there were O'Noonans in Barrymore and Kinalea Baronies.

There were two branches of the O'Ryans or O'Mulrians—the Carlow branch, in which county O'Ryan was Prince of Idrone—and the Tipperary branch, in which county one O'Ryan was Lord of Owney and Arra, and another Chief of Borrisoleigh. They also had possessions in County Limerick. The Ryans are now found in the Counties of Carlow, Kilkenny, Limerick, and Tipperary, the last county having by far the largest number. The Ryans of Tipperary are in some places so numerous that they are distinguished in the records by additional names appended to the surnames, such as—Ryan (Bawn); Ryan (Buckly); Ryan (Cooper); Ryan (Cormack); Ryan (Corney); Ryan (Dalton); Ryan (Dan); Ryan (Jack); Ryan (James); Ryan (Larry); Ryan (Ned); Ryan (Owen); Ryan (Russell); Ryan (Tim Daniel).

There were several branches of the O'Sullivan family; one was located in County Cork, where they were Princes of Beara, now Bere and Bantry Baronies, and were called O'Sullivan (Beara). Another (O'Sullivan Mor), occupied portion of County Kerry, where they were Lords of Dunkerron. At the present time the Sullivans and O'Sullivans are most numerous in the Counties of Cork and Kerry.

The O'Tooles were celebrated Princes of Imaile, in County Wicklow, and had their seat in the Glen of Imaile, which still retains that name. Their power extended into County Kildare. A considerable number of Toolets are still resident in the County Wicklow.

DANISH NAMES.

From the Ninth to the Twelfth Centuries the Ostmen or Danes came to Ireland and established themselves on the seaboard. They founded the Kingdom of Dublin A.D. 852, and their chief towns were Dublin, Wexford, Waterford, Cork, and Limerick. Some of the surnames now in use are traceable to Danish origin. Amongst these may be mentioned Betagh, Copinger, Dowdall, Dromgoole or Drumgoole, Gould, Harold, Palmer, Plunkett, Skiddy, Sweetman (Swedeman), Trant, &c. The name "Ost" is met with in County Wicklow.

Dr. MacDermott, in his annotations to the Annals of Ireland by the Four Masters, states:—"Many families of Danish origin took Irish surnames, prefixing O and Mac, so that their descent cannot now be ascertained, and several of their chiefs took Irish Christian names, particularly that of Patrick in honour of the patron saint of Ireland. The Danes and Norwegians being in possession of Dublin and some other parts of the country, and having maintained their colonies there for more than 300 years, there is consequently much of Danish blood in the Counties of Dublin and Meath, particularly in Fingall, and there are many families of Danish descent mixed by intermarriages with the old Milesian Irish."

ANGLO-NORMAN NAMES.

The circumstances connected with the Anglo-Norman invasion need not be referred to here. It suffices to say that through it the second great graft on our Celtic stock took place, many of our present surnames, notwithstanding the changes in form and spelling which time has wrought in them, being traceable to an Anglo-Norman source. As examples the following may be given :—

Barry, Bellew, Bermingham, Burke, Carew, Clare, Cogan, Dalton, Darcy, De Courcy, Delamere, Dillon, FitzEustace (Eustace), Fitzgerald, Fitzhenry, Fitzmaurice, Fitzsimons, Fitz-stephen, Gernon, Grace, Hussey, Keating, Lacy, Le Poer, Marshall, Montmorency, Mortimer, Nangle, Nugent, Petit, Prendergast, Purcell, Roche, Staunton, Taaffe, Talbot, Tuite, Tyrrell, Verdon, Vesey.

Dr. MacDermott, in a note to the "Annals of the Four Masters," states :—"The following Anglo-Norman or English families adopted Irish surnames :—The de Burgos or Burkes, of Connaught, took the name of MacWilliam, and some of them that of MacPhilip; the de Angulos or Nangles, of Meath and Mayo, changed the name to MacCostello; the de Exeters, of Mayo, to MacJordan; the Barretts, of Mayo, to MacWattin; the Stauntons, of Mayo, to M'Aveeley; . . . . the de Berminghams, of Connaught and other places, to MacFeorais, or Peorais; . . . . the Fitzsimmons, of the King's County, to MacRuddery; . . . . the Poers, of Kilkenny and Waterford, to MacShere; the Butlers, to MacPierce; the Fitzgeralds, to MacThomas and MacMaurice; the de Courcys, of Cork, to MacPatrick; the Barrys, of Cork, to MacAdam; and many others, in like manner."

ENGLISH NAMES.

Large numbers of English came to Ireland from the 12th to the 18th century, and from these sources the great bulk of the English names now found in Ireland are derived. These names are very numerous, though in many cases, as compared with the old Celtic names, they represent but a small number of persons.

The following are a few specimens of English names numerously represented :—

Adams; Andrews; Arnold; Ashe; Atkinson; Baker; Barr; Barton; Bates; Bennett; Berry; Bingham; Bolton; Bradshaw;

Brooks ; Canning ; Carlisle ; Carter ; Christy ; Cooper ; Cox ; Crowe ; Downes ; Edwards ; English ; Field ; Fisher ; Freeman ; Goodwin ; Hall ; Harper ; Harris ; Harrison ; Hawthorne ; Henry ; Hewitt ; Hill ; Holmes ; Hopkins ; Hunt ; Hunter ; Jackson ; Jenkins ; Johnson ; Johnston ; Kidd ; King ; Lamb ; Lane ; Little ; Long ; Mitchell ; Morton ; Nash ; Osborne ; Pearson ; Richardson ; Roberts ; Robinson ; Salmon ; Shaw ; Short ; Simpson ; Small ; Somers ; Swan ; Taylor ; Thornton ; Turner ; Walker ; Wall ; Waters ; Watson ; Webb ; Webster ; West ; White ; Woods ; Wright.

CORNISH NAMES.

Some Cornish or Briton names are also found in Ireland, such as Jagoe, Lanyon, Pascoe, Pender, Penrose, Tredenick, Tresilian, Trevelyan, Vivian, &c.

WELSH NAMES.

Welsh immigrants also found their way into Ireland. The name "Walsh"—Irish, Brannagh or Breathnach, a Briton or Welshman—occurs in early times in the counties of Cork, Dublin, Kerry, Kilkenny, Tipperary, Waterford, Wexford, and Wicklow ; and at the present day the name is largely represented in nearly every county in Ireland, especially in Cork, Mayo, Waterford, Galway, Dublin, and Wexford. According to some ancient authorities, Welshmen of the following names settled in Ireland after the English Invasion : Howell, Lawless, Lillis, Lynagh, Lynnott, and Merrick.

A remarkable colony from Wales, yet not consisting solely or even mainly of Welsh, was formed at any early date in the Baronies of Forth and Bargy, county Wexford. It is supposed to have been a settlement made at the time of the Norman Invasion. The interest in this colony is centred in the fact that it continued to exist separate from the native Irish, and maintained its peculiarities, character, and language down to a recent period ; and traces of its special characteristics are still to be found.

Reference is made to this colony in a series of returns supplied to Sir William Petty, written about 1680. In them it is stated "they preserve their first language and almost only understand the same unless elsewhere educated." Also that "they observe the same form of apparel their predecessors first used," which is, "according to the English mode, of very fine exquisitely dressed frieze, comlie, but not costlie ; that they inviolate profess and maintain the same faith and form of religion," and that "they seldom dispose of their children in marriage but unto natives or such as will determine to reside in the Barony." Several peculiar customs and usages of the colony are also detailed in the returns referred to.

In 1788 General Vallancey visited the colony and embodied the result of his researches in a paper which is printed in the Second Volume of the Transactions of the Royal Irish Academy, and in which he gives a specimen of the old dialect of the colony.

He remarks :—"This Colony have preserved their ancient manners, customs, and language ; and fully occupying every "inch of ground, the natives could never obtain a re-establishment therein. As population increased some of the English have been obliged to remove into the neighbouring baronies within these fifty years, and by an intercourse with the Irish the language of these emigrants became corrupted, and these by their connections with their kindred remaining in the baronies of Bargie and Forth have in some measure introduced this corrupted dialect there."

He mentions, amongst the names of the old colonists at that date—"Hore," "Cod," "Stafford," "Whitty," "Rossiter," "Sinnott," "Stephen," "Quiney," and "Walsh."

In Hall's Ireland also (published in 1841), there are references to this interesting colony.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hall observe :—“The baronies of Bargy and Forth, which extend along the coast from the Bay of Ban now to the Bay of Wexford, form perhaps the most singular and remarkable district of Ireland, its inhabitants being to this day ‘a peculiar people.’ . . . The peninsular position of these baronies—the sea on the one side, and the mountain of Forth on the other—contributed, no doubt in a great degree, to the safety and stability of the Colony; yet had it not been for the numerous castles, or, more properly speaking, ‘fortalices,’ the ruins of which form so remarkable a feature in the landscape, the courage and daring of the native Irish would have caused their extermination. Over a surface of about 40,000 acres there are still standing the remains of fifty-nine such buildings; and the sites of many more can be still pointed out.”

A paper on the subject of the dialect of the Barony of Forth was read by the Right Rev. Dr. Russell, late President of Maynooth College, at the Dublin Meeting of the British Association in August, 1857.

After an examination of the fragments of the language extant, he states :—“I venture, therefore, to conclude that the barony of Forth language is a lineal descent of the English introduced by the first settlers, modernized in its forms, and also, though in a less degree, in its vocabulary.”

Dr. Russell also remarks—“Like Irish in what used to be the Irish-speaking districts, the Forth language has become unfashionable in Forth itself, and the young generation are unwilling even to acknowledge an acquaintance with it, much less to employ it as a medium of ordinary intercourse.”

Dr. Mitchell, Inspector of Registration, who visited the locality in June last, states :—“There is a very great change over the face of this district since Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hall—50 years ago—described its inhabitants as still ‘a peculiar people.’ The change is easily explained by the opening up of the whole country—the district markets—and the facilities for travel afforded by railway train and steamboat. There is no doubt, I think, that the present inhabitants are largely the offspring of intermarriage with native Irish. It is only among the most illiterate that any considerable number of words of their old dialect is now used. Of the surnames given by Vallancey two, viz., Stephen and Quiney, appear to have died

"out in these Baronies, and others have spread all over the county and beyond. The names Codd, Stafford, Sinnott, Hore, Rossiter, and Walsh are very common in the town of Wexford."

SCOTTISH NAMES.

From an early period there were migrations of Scotch from Scotland to Ireland where they settled in Ulster, but the formal Plantation of Ulster took place in the seventeenth century. The majority of these settlers were Scotch.

On reference to the Table at the end of this Report the very frequent occurrence of Scotch names in the Province of Ulster will be seen. The following may be given as examples—Stewart, Campbell, Scott, Miller, McKenzie, Ross, McKay, Paterson, Fraser, Morrison, Cameron, McIntosh, McGregor, Kerr, Graham, Sinclair, Gordon.

HUGUENOT NAMES.

Representatives of other races have from time to time settled in this country; prominent amongst these may be mentioned the French and Flemish Huguenots. The Irish Parliament in 1674 passed an Act granting letters of naturalization to the refugees. The Duke of Ormonde, then Viceroy, patronized them, and through his instrumentality, colonies of them were founded at Dublin, Kilkenny, Portarlington, Waterford, Cork, and Lisburn.

They started manufactures of silk, gloves, lace, cloth, and linen. The manufacture of "Irish Poplin" in the Liberties of Dublin had its origin with these industrious foreigners, and in the north of Ireland they established the manufacture of linen and cambric.

Many Huguenot names are still amongst us; the following may be given as examples—Barré, Blacquiere, Boileau, Chaigneau, Du Bedat, Champion, Chenevix, Corcellis, Crommelin, Delacherois, Drelincourt, Dubourdieu, Du Cros, Fleury, Gausseen, Logier, Guerin, Hazard (Hassard), La Touche, Le Fevre, Lefroy, Lefanu, Maturin, Perrin, Saurin, Trench, Des Vignolles.

I have been furnished by Dr. Mitchell with the following notes regarding the Huguenot settlement in Portarlington at present :—

"There is at the present time (June, 1893) in the Townland of 'Deerpark' near Portarlington, a colony of men of pure Huguenot descent."

"Mr. Smiles, in his book on 'The Huguenots' (1867), states, the Blancs, butchers, transmitted the business from father to son for more than 150 years, and they are still recognisable at Portarlington under the name of 'Blong.' Not only is this so, but there are three families of them there now, two of which have retained (or returned to) the original spelling of the surname Blanc—as can be seen in our Register Books, and the trade of butchering is still followed by the family.

"The Medical Officer of Cloneygowan Dispensary District, Dr. Tabuteau, represents another Portarlington Huguenot family, and his father, the late Dr. Tabuteau (now eighteen years dead), remembered the time when Divine service was conducted in French. The surnames Boileau and Des Voeux have disappeared from this locality only a few years ago, General Boileau and Major Des Voeux with their families having left Portarlington. There is an aged carpenter here, 'La Combre,' of pure Huguenot descent, so that this name also, as well as another, 'Champ,' may be added to the list. The 'Corcellis' family now spell it Corsellis, and the full surname 'Des Vignolles' still occurs."

GERMAN PALATINATE NAMES.

In the Eighteenth Century there was a German migration into Ireland from the Palatinate of the Rhine. In 1709 a fleet was sent to Rotterdam by Queen Anne, which brought over about 7,000 of these refugees to England. About 3,000 were sent to North America, where they settled in Pennsylvania and North Carolina. The remainder, except a few families which remained in England, came over to Ireland, and settled principally in the County of Limerick. They were allowed eight acres of land for each man, woman, and child, at 5*s.* an acre, and the Government engaged to pay their rent for twenty years. They were an industrious and frugal race, but their numbers were subsequently largely reduced by emigration to America, and at the present day but few, comparatively, remain.

Ferrar, the historian of Limerick, describes thus this German Colony as it existed in 1780 :—“The Palatines preserve their “language, but it is declining; they sleep between two beds; “they appoint a burgomaster to whom they appeal in all dis-“putes. They are industrious men, and have leases from the “proprietor of the land at reasonable rents; they are, conse-“quently, better fed and clothed than the generality of Irish “peasants. Besides, their mode of husbandry and crops are “better than those of their neighbours. They have by degrees “left off their sour krout, and feed on potatoes, milk, butter, “oaten and wheaten bread, some meat and fowls, of which they “rear many. * * * * The women are very industrious “* * *. Besides their domestic employments and the care “of their children, they reap the corn, plough the ground, and “assist the men in everything. In short the Palatines have “benefited the county by increasing tillage, and are a laborious, “independent people, who are mostly employed on their own “small farms.”

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hall describe the “Palatines” in 1840 as “different in character, and distinct in habits from the people of “the country.” They state :—“The elders of the family pre-“serve in a great degree the language, customs, and religion of “their old country; but the younger mingle and marry with their “Irish neighbours.”

Dr. Mitchell has kindly furnished me with the following remarks regarding the present condition of this colony :—

“I find by personal inquiries made on the spot (May, 1893), that Palatines bearing the following surnames at the present time occupy farms in and round Court Matrix, Ballingran, and Killiheen :—Baker, Bovanizer, Bowen (Adam Bowen was one of my informants, interviewed on his own 8 (Irish) acre farm near Court Matrix), Doube (pronounced 'Dobe'), Delmege (or 'Delmege'—as they themselves pronounce it), Gilliard, Latchford, Ligier (pronounced 'Leg-iar,' with the 'g' hard), Millar, Lodwig, Modlar, Pyper, Reynard (pronounced 'Reinart'); Ruttle, Shire, Stark, Switzer (Jacob Switzer was another of my informants, whom I interviewed on his own 24-acre farm at Court Matrix), Teskey.

"The above 18 names undoubtedly represent more than double that number of families in the localities specified above; several of them also occur at Adare. There are several families of the name 'Switzer,' several of the name 'Delmege,' and 'Ruttle,' and so on.

"When I got to Askeaton District, I found a Palatine name, 'Ruttle,' on a signboard (a very unusual circumstance). Generally, Palatine sons succeed their fathers on the same farms originally allotted to their ancestors in 1709. And however those may have fared who have since left Co. Limerick for America, the Palatines here at present are tenant farmers, as a rule, like the original settlers, many of the 8-acre lots having been consolidated into larger farms.

"At Court Matrix, I saw the house of the Rev. Mr. Doube—a Palatine Clergyman at present stationed in Co. Wicklow. When I got to Pallaskenry, I found along with some of the surnames already given, others, viz.:—Neazor, Heavenor, Smyth (spelled with a 'y' and originally 'Schmidt').

"The Christian names for males, Nehemiah, Christopher, Adam, Jacob, Jethro, Julius, Ebenezer, and for females—Dorothy, &c., are still of common occurrence.

"Differing originally in language (though even the oldest of the present generation know nothing of the German tongue, spoken or written), as well as in race and religion from the natives among whom they were planted, these Palatines still cling together like the members of a clan, and worship together. Most of them have a distinctly foreign type of features, and are strongly built, swarthy in complexion, dark-haired and brown-eyed. The comfortable houses built in 1709 are in ruins now. I traced, with Jacob Switzer's aid, the original 'Square' of Court Matrix in the ruined walls still standing; I also traced in the very centre of this square the foundations of the little Meeting House in which John Wesley occasionally preached to them in the interval, 1750-1765. Modern houses stand there now, but not closely grouped together. They are all comfortable in appearance, some thatched, some slated, some of one storey, others of two. Nearly all have a neat little flower garden in front, and very many have an orchard beside, or immediately behind the house. There is all the appearance of thrift and industry among them."

JEWISH NAMES.

The last colony to which attention need be called is that resulting from the recent Jewish immigration. For many years Jews have been resident in Dublin and other chief cities in Ireland, but during the decade 1881-90, their numbers were largely increased by the arrival of Russian and Polish Jews. Most of these have settled in Dublin, where, on the south side of the city, they have formed a Jewish Quarter, and opened several Synagogues. The Marriage and Birth Indexes of this Office now afford abundant evidence of their presence in our midst.

As shown by the Census Returns, they principally follow the occupations of—Commercial Clerks, Commercial Travellers, Drapers, Dressmakers, General Dealers, Merchants, Pedlars, Shop Assistants, Tailors, and Tailoresses.

The following may be given as examples of the names of the Jewish Settlers :—

Coplan.	Maisell.	Statzumsky.	Wedeclefsky.
Fridberg.	Matufsky.	Stuppel.	Weiner.
Greenberg.	Rabinovitch.	Wachman.	Winstock.
Hesselberg.	Rossin.

In addition to the foregoing there are a number of foreigners who have settled in Ireland from France, Germany, Italy, and other countries, and whose names appear in our Indexes.

Though "Birthplace" is not an accurate test of nationality, it may be of interest to attach the following Table extracted from the Census of 1891, which shows the Birthplaces of the persons enumerated in Ireland according to each Census from 1841 to 1891 :—

CENSUS PERIODS.	BIRTHPLACE.
	Province of Leinster.	Province of Munster.	Province of Ulster.	Province of Connaught.	Great Britain.		Born Abroad.
					England and Wales.	Scotland.
1841, ..	1,932,243	2,394,988	2,390,028	1,423,257	21,552	8,585	4,471
1851, ..	1,614,160	1,853,628	2,015,424	1,018,446	34,454	12,312	9,961
1861, ..	1,398,956	1,502,669	1,905,886	913,052	50,761	16,861	10,379
1871, ..	1,266,010	1,375,600	1,815,901	849,246	67,881	20,318	17,010
1881, ..	1,203,364	1,316,273	1,720,742	821,908	69,392	22,328	19,535
1891, ..	1,113,585	1,154,803	1,587,271	725,722	74,523	27,323	21,330

From this Table it will be seen that the number of persons resident in Ireland at the time of each Census, but born elsewhere, has largely increased at each decennial period.

CHAPTER V.

DISTRIBUTION OF SURNAMES.

In the Table at the end of this Report, will be found the Surnames in Ireland represented by five Entries and upwards in the Births Index for 1890, and the number of such Entries in each Province, together with notes as to their distribution by Counties.

It was not deemed advisable to exhibit in tabular form the details in that Table by Counties, but the relative numerical strength of the principal Surnames in each Registration County is as follows* :—

REGISTRATION PROVINCE OF LEINSTER.

REGISTRATION COUNTY.	SURNAMES AND NUMBER OF ENTRIES IN BIRTHS INDEX FOR 1890.

It will be seen that although the name "Murphy" is the most numerous in the country at large, it does not occupy the leading place in many of the counties. In the Province of Leinster in two Counties only—Wexford and Carlow—does it stand first. With regard to this name in the former County, the Earl of Courtown in a recent paper on the "Celts and Teutons in Ireland," remarks as follows :—

" Murphy is the Anglicised form of MacMurrough, the old regal family of Leinster. On the death of Dermot MacMurrough, the last acknowledged King of Leinster, his rights, by English law, passed to his only legitimate child, Eva, wife of Richard de Clare, Earl of Pembroke, known as Strongbow. The legitimate male line was continued in the descendants of Dermot's brother Morrogh, who continue to hold lands in North Wexford. This name is by far the most numerous in the county, and is found in every part of it."

In the counties of Dublin, Louth, and Wicklow, "Byrne" is the most common name, whereas in Kildare and King's County, "Kelly" heads the list. In Longford and Meath, "Reilly" is the principal name, and in Kilkenny, "Brennan." In Queen's County, "Dunne" appears at the head of the list, and in Westmeath, "Lynch."

In the Province of Munster, "Sullivan" is the predominant name in Cork and Kerry, followed, in the former county, very closely by the name "Murphy." "Ryan" heads the list in Limerick and Tipperary, while "McMahon" and "Power" are the leading names, respectively, in the counties of Clare and Waterford.

In the Province of Ulster in one county only, namely, Armagh, is the name "Murphy" in excess of the others. In Antrim, "Smith" appears first; in Cavan, "Reilly"; in Donegal, "Gallagher"; and in Down, "Thompson." The leading name in Fermanagh is "Maguire," and in Londonderry, "Doherty" stands at the head of the list. The principal names in Monaghan and Tyrone are "Duffy" and "Quinn," respectively.

In the Province of Connaught, in no one county does the name "Murphy" occupy the principal position. In Galway and Roscommon the name "Kelly" takes precedence, and in Leitrim that name and "Reynolds" are the first two on the list and equally represented. "Walsh" stands first in the county of Mayo, and "Brennan" heads the list in Sligo.

An interesting feature connected with the Table on pages 37 to 75, is the fact that it exhibits certain names as peculiar to particular provinces or counties. Some of these names may be found in other parts of the country, though not so represented in the Births Index for 1890.

Thus the following names, amongst others, are principally found in the Province of Leinster:—

Behan.	Condron.	Doyle.	Furlong.	Kinsella.	Sinnott.
Bolger.	Curtis.	Ennis.	Harford.	Mulhall.	Tallon.
Brophy.	Deegan.	Fagan.	Kavanagh.	Plunkett.	Tyrrell.
Byrne.	Dowdall.	Fenlon.	Keogh.	Redmond.	Whitty.

The Province of Munster is the chief seat of the undermentioned names:—

Ahern.	Crowley.	Harrington.	Lehane.	Moynihan.	Shea.
Barry.	Curtin.	Hartnett.	Lucey.	Mulcahy.	Sheehan.
Brosnan.	Dennehy.	Herlihy.	Mahony.	Noonan.	Sheehy.
Carmody.	Desmond.	Horgan.	M'Auliffe.	O'Connell.	Slattery.
Condon.	Dinneen.	Hurley.	M'Carthy.	O'Sullivan.	Spillane.
Cotter.	Donovan.	Kelleher.	Moloney.	Riordan.	Stack.
Cremin.	Driscoll.	Kingston.	Moriarty.	Scannell.	Sullivan.
Cronin.	Enright.	Leary.	Moroney.	Shanahan.	Twomey.

The following names are confined principally to the Province of Ulster:—

Adair.	Campbell.	Houston.	M'Kee.
Adams.	Carson.	Hunter.	M'Mullan.
Alexander.	Cowan.	Kerr.	Montgomery.
Armstrong.	Craig.	Lavery.	Morrow.
Barr.	Davidson.	M'Allister.	Mulholland.
Bell.	Donaghy.	M'Auley.	Porter.
Blair.	Ferguson.	M'Connell.	Steele.
Bonar.	Gillespie.	M'Dowell.	Stevenson.
Boyd;	Graham.	M'Fadden.	Stewart.
Cairns.	Greer.	M'Farland.	Watson.
Caldwell.	Hamilton.	M'Ginley.	Weir.
Cameron.	Hanna.	M'Gonigle.	Wylie.

The Province of Connaught is the chief habitat of the Names :—

Beirne.	Faherty.	Hession.	Mannion.
Cafferky.	Frain.	Joyce.	McNicholas.
Conneely.	Gaghan.	Keaveny.	Mullarkey.
Cunnane.	Giblin.	Kyne.	Noone.
Cunniffe.	Gilmartin.	Lavin.	Ruane.
Durkan.	Ginty.	Malley.	Spelman.

Passing from Provinces to Counties, it will be seen from the Table that, in the Births Index for 1890, the following names appear only in particular Counties :—

Thunder appears in Dublin only.

Howlin, Parle, Rossiter, in Wexford ; and Kearon in Wicklow.

M'Guane is found only in Clare. Anglin, Bohane, Bransfield, Brickley, Bullman, Dullea, Hornibrook, Keohane, Kidney, Lombard, Lordan, Lowney, Motherway, Northridge, Santry, Twohig, appear in the Index for Cork only ; and Bowler, Brick, Cournane, Culloty, Currane, Kerrisk, M'Crohan, M'Gillicuddy for Kerry. The surname Leo is peculiar to Limerick, and Dahill to Tipperary.

The following are found exclusively in Antrim—Buick, Drain, Esler, Gaston, Kernohan, M'Killen, M'Murtry, M'Ninch, Meharg, Miskelly, Mulvenna, O'Rawe, Picken, Quee, Richmond, Snoddy, Warwick, Weatherup, and Wharry.

Cartmill and M'Polin appear in Armagh only, and M'Givney in Cavan.

The names M'Geady, M'Gettigan, and M'Nelis have representatives in Donegal only ; Jess and Lightbody in Down ; M'Eldowney in Londonderry, and M'Aneny in Tyrone.

Cloherty, Dirrane, Diskin, Faherty, Gorham, Grealish, Hara, and Welby, are found only in Galway ; Dever, Forkin, Heffron, Kilbane, Kilgallon, Kirrane, Kitterick, M'Andrew, M'Manamon, M'Nicholas, Mea, O'Hora, Ractigan, and Tougher, in Mayo only ; and Guihen in Roscommon only.

TABLE Showing the SURNAMES IN IRELAND having Five Entries and upwards in the Birth Indexes of 1890, together with the Number in each Registration Province, and the Registration Counties in which these Names are principally found arranged according to the Number of the Names in each.

The Number of Entries opposite Names marked (*) includes varieties in spelling. The figures within brackets after the names denote the number returned according to the spelling here given. Names where the prefixes "Mac" and "O" have been dropped, are shown separately, in this Table, from those in which these prefixes have been retained.

NOTE.—The Estimated Number of Persons of each Surname in the Population can be ascertained by multiplying the Number of Entries in the Table by the Average Birth-rate, which for the Year 1890 is 1 in 44.8 persons.
